Dear Phog:

Several weeks ago I wrote a request to your publicity man in which I asked him to prepare a review of the Big Six Basketball Season for the Guide. This task was assigned to Kansas since your fine team tied for the championship and represented the conference in post season games.

My letter was never answered since I mentioned that no answer was necessary if he could and would accept the job. I assumed, therefore, that he would prepare the copy and send it direct to Mr. Tower. However, a letter from Mr. Tower this morning informs me that all reviews from this section are in his hands except that of the Big Six.

We don't want our league left out, and I also believe the job should go to the winning school although that is not entirely essential. Will you please investigate this and let me know if your publicity department will be able to write the review, and approximate a date on which the material will be mailed to Mr. Tower.

Yours truly,
