

March 9, 1938.

Dr. Earle G. Brown,
Office of Health Department,
Court House,
Arlington, Virginia.

Dear Dr. Brown:

Thank you very much for your excellent letter of the 5th instant. I am glad that you were pleased over the Kansas-Missouri ball game.

Yes, Nebraska, at the beginning of the season, appeared as the logical favorite. Had four seniors and some real stars on the team. I do not know what happened, but there was a break down somewhere along the line.

I wish you might have seen either the Oklahoma or Nebraska game. Those two games will live long in the memories of the people who saw Kansas wage perhaps one of the most courageous uphill fights in the history of Kansas basketball. It is all over now and we can get a breathing spell until next year.

My, how these youngsters grow up! Our daughter, who was a baby of six, will graduate from high school a year from this year, and to think that Josephine is now graduating from high school takes a very vivid imagination, especially when I remember Josephine as a little tot.

Congratulations on your new move to Nassau County, New York. I am sure that it is a definite advancement, and I wish you and your family the best of life's success and happiness. It certainly will be a pleasure for us to drop by and see you if we come east. We generally do, but this year may be an exception. Our national meetings are in Chicago - both the coaches meeting and the rules body meeting, so we may miss you. But some time we may have the pleasure of saying "hello" to the Browns. We, of course, will be happy to see you out west again whenever it is within the cards.

With every good wish, I am

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

FCA:AH