

March 12, 1942.

Mr. Eugene Zachman,
Municipal Auditorium,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Mr. Zachman:

Professor Russell L. Wiley, director of the University Band, will be very happy to entertain the fans between halves at our game on March 17th. He has a gun swinging stunt, using regular army rifles, then has some baton twirlers working in from the corners. I think this would be very effective, particularly if you could put on your illumination performance with the ceiling lights there in the Auditorium.

How many minutes does this illumination spectacle take? Could you put this on while the band is playing?

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation,
Varsity Basketball and Baseball Coach.
