

Max Replogle has fine personable and moral qualities, but at times shows a degree of uncertainty in taking the initiative. This, I believe, he is overcoming. He shows great promise in developing qualities of leadership. He is clean, personable, very reliable in carrying out his duties, and of very high moral character. By his daily habits of living he sets a splendid example to young men and boys.