

Frank Anneberg is a mature young man of much experience. He has taught quite successfully for several years, and is in school this year completing work for his master's degree. He is an outstanding gymnast. He has a very serious conviction as to the values of physical education and its possible constructive effects upon youth. He is clean, personable, and does not use narcotics or alcoholics in any form. In my opinion he is a very safe young man to deal with young men.
