

that if you are successful in obtaining Mr. Uhrlaub's services you will be highly pleased with him as a teacher, coach, and fine example to young men.

I have a number of young men coming on who have not had the experience of Mr. Uhrlaub. The men that I have now out in the field who are capable coaches and teachers include John Burn, former coach of Stanford University's great teams, who is now Dean of Men at Stanford; Arthur "Dutch" Lomborg, Northwestern University varsity basketball coach who was captain of my 1920 team; Adolph Rupp, coach of the University of Kentucky teams, who graduated in 1923; "Frosty" Cox, captain of my 1929 team, who is now head coach at the University of Colorado; Louis Menze, head coach of Iowa State College, who graduated from Central Missouri State Teachers College at Warrensburg when I coached there; Ray Parkins, head coach at Edison High at Minneapolis, who was a teammate of Menze's; and a number of coaches such as Andrew McDonald, coach of Springfield Teachers College, and so forth. I do not believe that Parkins or McDonald or those fellows would be interested in your position, but I do feel that you might profitably contact Mr. Uhrlaub.

Very sincerely yours,
