

July 20, 1943.

Col. Robert Rossow, Cav-Res.,
Director, Woodcraft Camp,
Culver Military Academy,
Culver, Indiana.

Dear Colonel Rossow:

Immediately upon receipt of your letter of the 19th instant I got in touch with Mr. Solon Ayers, the Superintendent of Haskell Institute, and asked him if he could secure an Indian boy for you. I told Mr. Ayers to wire you when he gets the boy. He will perhaps give you all the data, but I also told Mr. Ayers to let me know so that I could pass the information on to you.

I told Mr. Ayers to tell the boy to take the Santa Fe train to Plymouth and that you would drive over and get him.

Mr. Ayers said men are very, very scarce, but he will do the best he can.

Assuring you it is a pleasure to be of any assistance possible, I am

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
