Dear Mr. Allen

You may consider this letter an unusual one in certain respects, but I'm sure there would be no doubt in your mind as to the sincerity of the purpose behind it. If you had sat like so many of the ex-K.U. students were obliged to do one Saturday afternoon two or three years ago, surrounded by friends, acquaintances, and strangers and have to swallow the humiliation of the drubbing handed a good K.U. football team by an inferior Wichita U. team, and take the jibes of the others that day and ever since.

Nothing will please us (I think I can speak for all or nearly all here) except a very lop-sided score in favor of K.U. and the bigger the difference the better. Possibly we have no right to make such a request of you and the boys on the team. In one sense it is your + their game. In another sense we feel that the team is "our team" just about as much for many of us as when we were students. So wanting to be justified in our loyalty and proud of our school, we want the football blot erased as much as possible by as
