Dear Phog:-

I see by the papers you are playing some basketball in the East. I'm planning on seeing your game here and in New York, if you are playing there. Phog, I wonder if you have made your hotel plans as yet. I've wanted you to meet Bill Stetson, who coaches the Swarthmore College team. Grand boy. Both Bill and ~~xx~~ I are hoping you will consider taking your team to Strath Haven Inn in Swarthmore while you are in Philly. Penn's football team always stays there before their big games. It is only about seven miles from Convention Hall where you play. Bill says you are most welcome to Swarthmore's field house and all their equipment. "Anything we've got, he can have," says Bill. Maybe your timetable won't allow it, but I think it would be swell if you are laying over for a day or two. The field house is a marvel -- it's got everything by a goal-hi. Drop me a note, Phogger, about your dates and the like, and if I can help in any way just holler.

I suppose you know The Post has an article about you for December publication. I haven't read it.

Remember, Swarthmore is quieter than the city.

Best wishes,

Bob Reed
