

many mistakes and regret that certain things had to come to pass. Confidentially, there are many disappointments connected with my present billet and I am rather unhappy in the set up, but there isn't anything to do about it. I am reluctant to complain in view of the many sacrifices of other boys, but I thought you might be interested to know the facts. It is possible that I will remain here for some time and then again, I may be transferred; we never know from day to day.

So far the summer has been very hot in Boston; the nights have been fairly cool and sleeping has been pretty good. I have not been able to play any golf, tennis, or ^{participate in} other sports; my work is very confining and takes up considerable time. After lecturing for five hours ^{per} day in and day out you find very little time for things other than preparation for the next day. As time goes along, K. U. boys are making excellent records back here in the Supply Corps School; we have a right to be proud of them.

I had the opportunity of visiting with Chancellor Malott while he was on his trip back here. He told of the many problems, etc. confronting K. U. It seemed good to talk with someone having first
