

September 10, 1942.

Mr. Mano W. Stukey,
Director of Athletics and Coach,
Yankton College,
Yankton, South Dakota.

Dear Mano:

It was a delight to hear from you and to know that you are so happy at Yankton. I have been intending to write you and congratulate you on the position. I was doubly glad that you landed this job, especially when I had recommended you for a place here and the administration felt that they did not have sufficient funds to engage you. I notified the administrators that you had accepted the position as Director of Athletics at Yankton, which made you appear in my eyes, and I am sure in theirs, a very valuable young man.

I know that Mrs. Stukey is indeed happy and I am sure that your connections will be more than pleasant, and I am sure that you will be highly successful. Here's wishing you and yours the best of luck, success and happiness.

Of course I am happy to autograph a picture of myself to send you. I consider it a compliment in your asking. There is no charge whatsoever for this photograph. You have done enough for the University, and it is a pleasure to do this small thing.

I assure you that if at any time I am ever in your vicinity I shall not forego the opportunity of visiting you. This, of course, goes for you and Mrs. Stukey in regard to the reciprocal invitation.

With all good wishes, I am

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
