Mr. Forrest C. Allen
Lawrence, Kans.

Dear Doc:

You'll probably be surprised to hear from me way out here, but just today I was reading in the Journal-World about your having the largest team members since 1929 and the fact that you had some good material again.

As I probably told you, before I left Stanley and the Lawrence theatres, we bought this confectionary and gift shop the first ~~of~~ of September. Business has been very gratifying, and although it isn't Lawrence, the people are most hospitable out here and we are getting along fine.

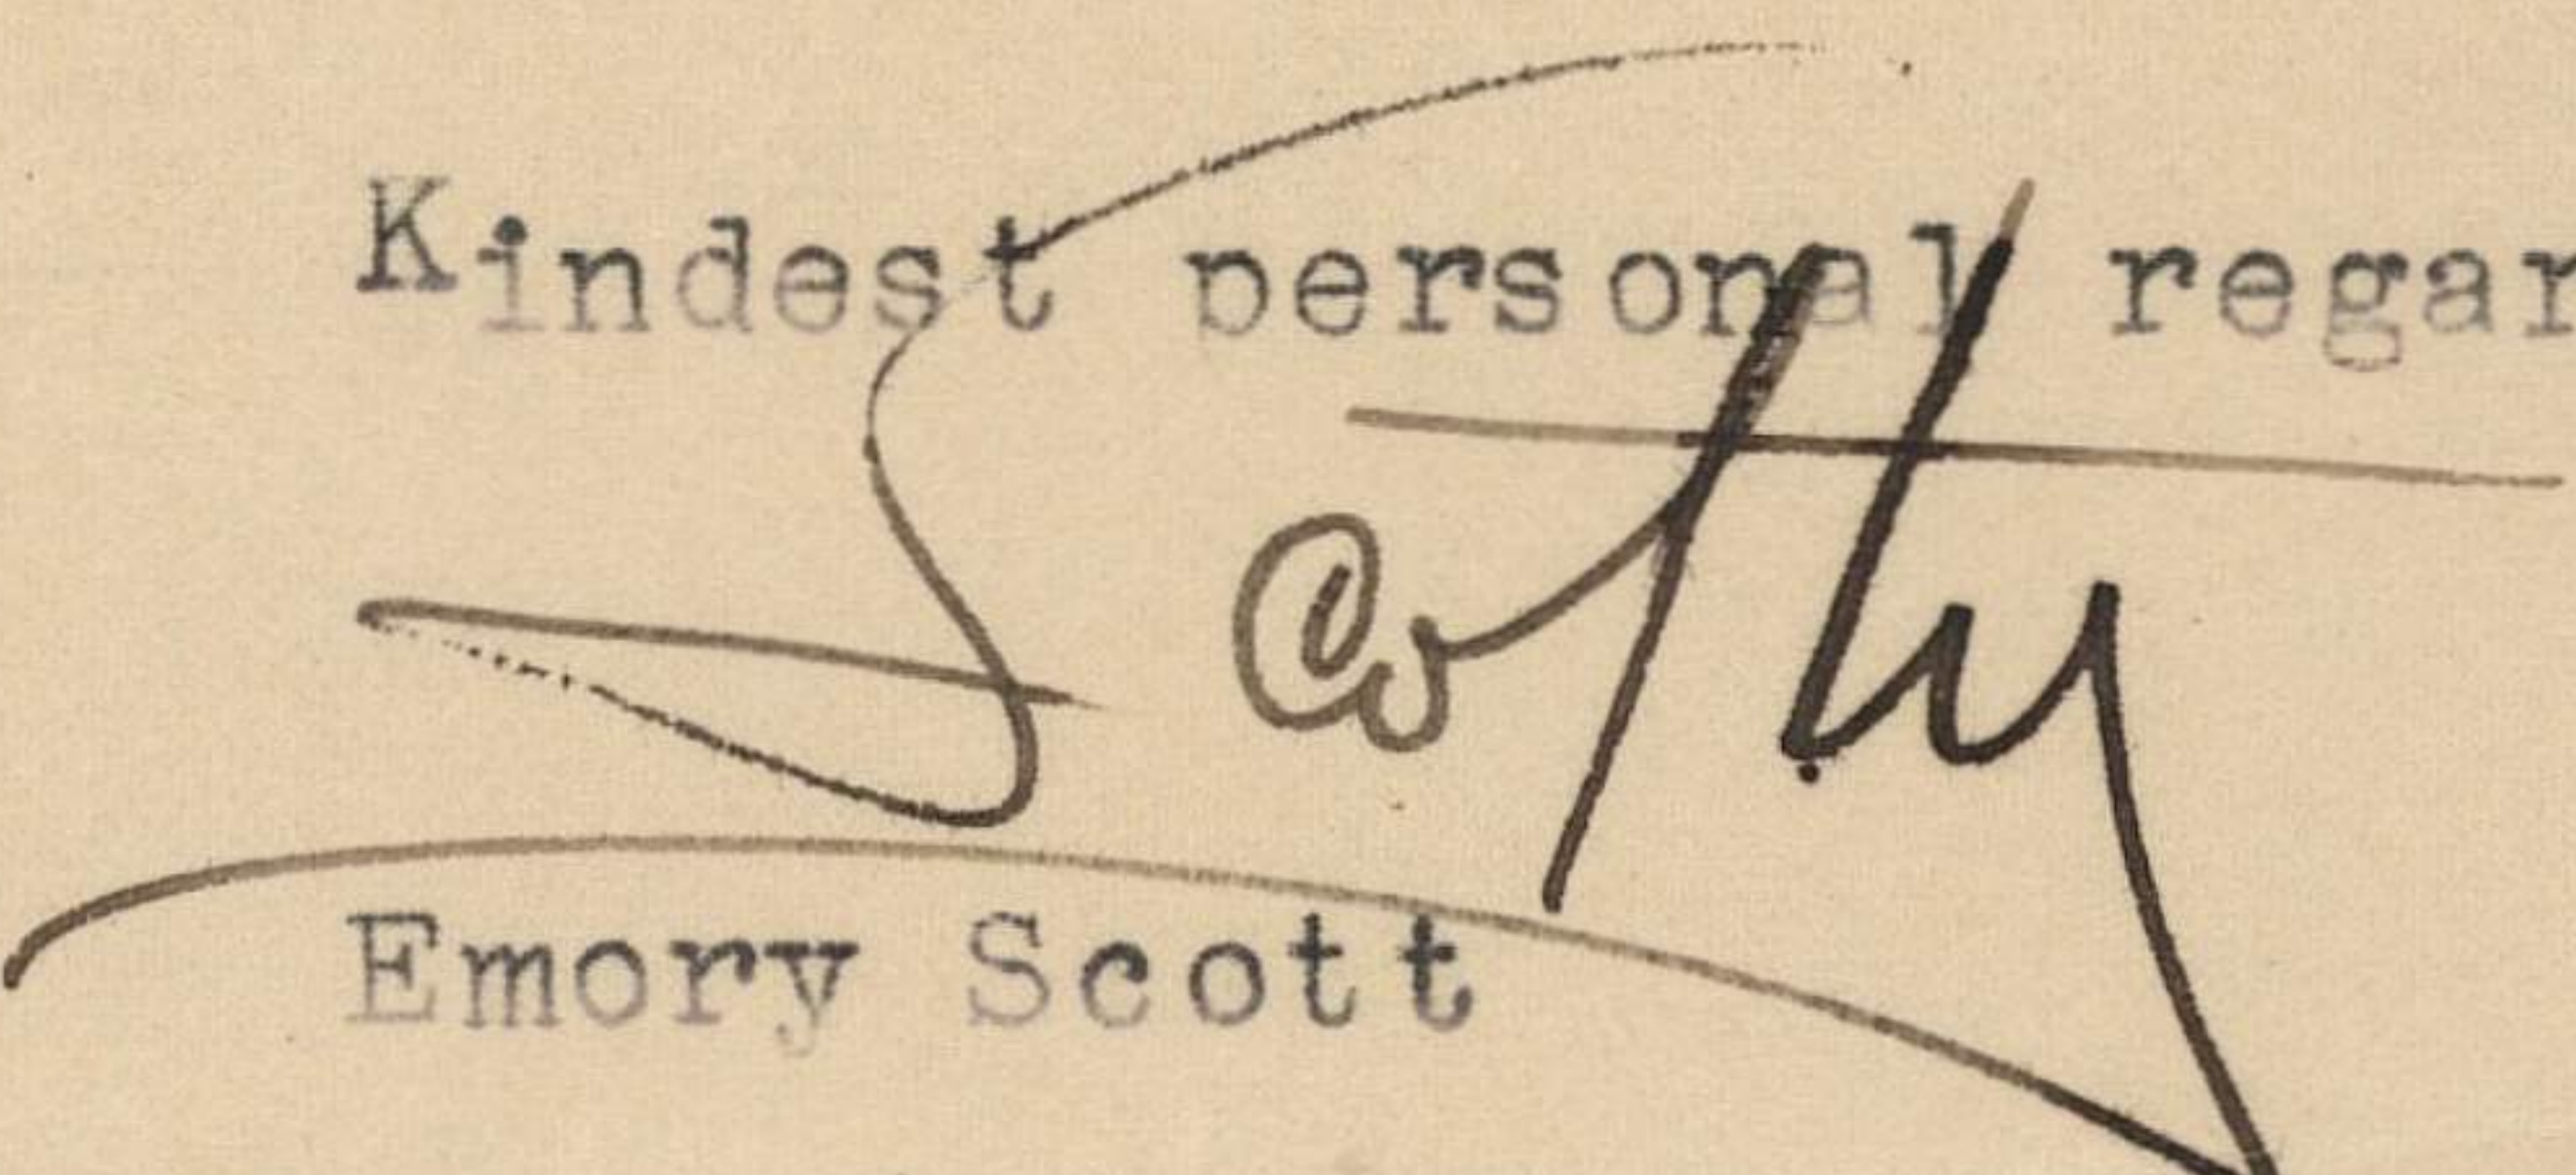

We make most of our own candy, Doc, and when I made a batch of horehound this week I happened to remember that I read somewhere that you had a weakness for horehound. As you probably know, horehound is a predominant flavor, therefore the candy factories often dump the scraps of other flavors together to make this. With us it's different. When we make horehound, we make just that and we make it just a little stronger with menthol than do most of the others.

Try the sample inclosed and if you like it, we ship 3 lbs express prepaid to your door for $1.25. Five pounds prepaid, $1.75, or 30¢ per pound after the original three pounds.

If it doesn't impress you way above the ordinary, then just regard this as another letter, for I know your time is always filled up.

A happy Christmas to you and your family and I'll be watching the Journal-World and following another successful basketball season with the Jayhawkers.

Kindest personal regards,

Emory Scott
