Mr. Sam Corenswet,
Chairman, Basketball Committee,
Tulane University,
New Orleans, Louisiana.

Dear Mr. Corenswet:

Last year I received a wire from the Basketball Committee wanting to know if we would play in the Sugar Bowl game. The Big Six Conference ruling prohibits our playing in a city in which the school is not located. Therefore, it would be necessary to play some team in New Orleans.

I do not know if it is at all possible to arrange it, but if Tulane should be selected to represent the south it would be fine. I noticed where Tulane defeated Kentucky, and thought it might be possible that Tulane would be selected.

I would prefer no publicity be given out regarding my inquiry, as it is just a tentative inquiry. We are going down through Texas during the Christmas vacation, and thought we might swing over to New Orleans.

Sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.
