

result I must concentrate on something else. The more I think of the William-Jewel proposition, the better I like it. I really and truly would rather work with college age girls, but I was not sure that I could get into a college to start with. I would like to write to the gentleman with whom I talked last Tuesday, but unfortunately I am not sure of his name. Will you please send it to me, also the name of the dean of women who was with him?

Again I want to thank you for all that you did for me this summer and to tell you again how much I enjoyed my work on the quadrangle. Give my regards to Mrs. Allen - sorry I didn't get to say "good bye" to her.

Sincerely,
Josephine Sams
