"Hawkshaw" Nelson Sullivan,
2208 Lathrop,
Kansas City, Kansas.

Dear Gum-shoe Sleuth:

I never thought you would slip up on some poor little old shop-lifter and pounce on her with those strong arms of yours and say, "Get to jail, lady, get to jail"! I never thought you would go to that extreme, even in an air-conditioned room, but strong men must be satisfied, while the weak suffer.

Hi, Nelson, I'm glad you got a good job. You tell my friend, Lee Greenberg, I am glad he has the ability to pick out superior men. Really, Sully, you gave me such a build up to that fellow that I feel like I should contribute a part of the salary you get.

I got your good "hello" from Mrs. Hulteen and was glad to hear from you. Now, regarding Bill Hahn - if Bill hasn't saved enough money it wouldn't be well to encourage him. He should have at least a hundred or a hundred fifty dollars, and if you can't get that over a year's stretch I am afraid times will be too tough. I certainly would like to have Hahn here if he comes the right way. I talked to Dr. Billingsley and a number of his friends and some of them think he won't do and others think he will. Personally, I would be glad to have him come to K. U. I believe we could help him help himself.

Nelson, suppose you just sit down and have a good heart to heart talk with the chap and see what he has to say in response, and then write me before you bring him over.

I am going to write you and the rest of the boys a letter in the very near future telling you about our schedule and the possible national play-off. You will be hearing from me shortly, but in the meantime don't pounce on the weak and helpless just because the veneer has worn thin on some poor mortal's social fabric. Now be human and humane, Sully. With your indescribable strength you may pounce on some one on the back of the neck before they would have a chance to get set for you. You know I always a friend of yours, Sully. How you doin', Sully?

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education,
Varsity Basketball Coach.

July 11, 1938

Dear Mrs. Nulteen:

While waiting for my brother to take a plunge at the local "Y" I found myself staring into a large poster which said that nothing is more detestable than an ungrateful man. Immediately I recalled Doc. saying that every letter demanded a reply so I want you to know that the association of a few ideas prompted this bit of correspondence.

I just want to thank you for sending me that check which as you might surmise was certainly welcome. As ~~to~~ to my profitable employment I have fell slightly below last year's job in salary but have secured a floor walkers, Detective & elevator's position at the local Greenberg's clothing store. Lee

Greenberg was the man to befriend
me. He says that he knows the great Doc. so I immediately gave him the lowdown. I figure that I am a fairly good publicity man for Doc.

Tell Doc. hello and also tell him that I would like to ask him how I can best
"rush" Bill Hahn, Wayandotte
high school's basketball star, for
him. He is very much undecided
as to where he wants to go,
but several have told me that he would like to play for
Doc. I would be glad to
if bring him up to N. V.
some evening to look the
place over & talk to Doc.
if such is advisable.

Well you should enjoy
my job in one respect as I am working in an air conditioned
store and I can imagine very easily how hot it must be in that cubby hole of yours. Will be seeing you

A SUPERIOR METHOD OF TAPING THE ANKLE

Dr. Guss C Salley

A method of ankle taping is presented which has been found superior to the usual procedures. Acknowledgement is made to Dr. Virgil Halladay who originated this method.

The accompanying photographs are for the most part self explanatory, but a brief outline of procedure may be of some assistance. Tape one and one quarter inches is the most convenient width. The length varies from fourteen to twenty four inches. For convenience of describing the method of taping the four strips will be designated as A, B, C, and D.

Strip A is started on the top side of the foot, just back of the second toe. From this point it spirals at an angle to the outside of the foot at about the mid point; then crosses under arch to come up back of the ankle bone on the inside of the leg; Crossing the back of the leg at the upper part of the tendon of achilles spiraling on around the leg upward without wrinkling, to about the middle of the leg.

Strip B is applied similar to A but on the opposite side of the foot i. e. crossing under the arch on the inside of the foot and back of the ankle bone on the outside of the foot.

Note: The best way to determine the angle of the above tapes A and B is to start by laying the tape across back of the ankle bones.

Strip C is started on the sole of the foot, in front of the heel at a point stright down from the ankle bone. From the point the tape crosses under the back part of the arch and comes up on the inside of the foot to pass just in front of the ankle bone on the inside of the leg. From there the tape spirals in front and up the leg without wrinkling to about the middle of the leg.

Strip D is applied as C but on the opposite side of the foot and leg.

After the spirals are in place tie tapes are applied to anchor the ends.

In applying the above tapes care should be taken not to apply them with tension. They should be merely laid on the skin with but little if any tension.

The above taping should be duplicated from three to five times depending on the weight of the individual and the strain to be thrown on the foot and ankle.

The above method of taping when applied in injuries of the ankle joint and the arch of the foot or in weakened natural support to these structures will be found to possess the following advantages:-
A physiologic supporting action which allows complete relaxation without binding while the joint structures are at rest but provides arch support and re-enforces muscular and ligamentous support to the ankle joint during activity, ~~and~~ It will be noted that the blood supply and drainage are not impaired either during rest or activity and that when the foot supports weight or is engaged in a propulsive movement, the arch and ankle joint are clamped together ~~suff~~ sufficiently to prevent any strain or further injury to these structures.

Dear Dr. Allen:- You may not be interested at all in the inclosed description and pictures of ankle taping. If not file them away in that great and most used filing system the waste basket. But I have found this method of taping very satisfactory and not generally known. If you can use it to any advantage I am glad for you have been so very generous of your time and efforts teaching me things I wanted to know. If you can not use this there is no damage done.

I will see you when you and your de-cager pays us a visit on the upper Kaw.

Mr. Tom Sweeney,
Peoples State Bank,
Lawrence, Kansas.

Dear Tom:

I do not want you to feel that there is any personal feeling on my part towards you. When I vehemently protest against the practice of the banks of this town or any other town charging a man three cents per check for accounts that drop below $50.00 after the date that the $50.00 minimum has been raised.

In other words, I think you are justified in charging for all checks from the first of the month up to the time that the $50.00 minimum was raised, but if that $50.00 minimum has received a boost above and is kept there, and then have the checks the rest of the month charged three cents apiece, I think it is a penalty and not a service that the bank renders.

If a depositor kept $500 or $1,000 in the bank, then if the bank wanted to be fair with their bookkeeping, they would have some sort of a reckoning for that. It just isn't cricket, and personally I resent any such action.

My Scotch tendencies cause me to try to save those excess charges, and my Irish temperament causes me to tell you what I think. You know darn well that as fond as I have been of your grand old Dad and as much as I have liked you throughout the years, this would not cause the slightest personal feeling on my part toward you. I would go to bat for you any day in the week, and for that matter, all of your help in the bank, but I would fight that principal consistently. I think it is not only unfair, but bordering on - - - well, let's drop it.

With every good wish, I am

The Board of the Standard Life Assn. is here for several days and I will be out of the Bank for a great part of the time but later this week I will check on the matter to which you refer. I want to know if we are justified or if you are correct for certainly if we are wrong we want to correct our position.

I know that there is nothing personal in your protest-I think I know you well enough to know that a matter of this nature would not wreck our friendship. If you were not a good friend you would not have written the letter.

Dr. Forrest C. Allen
University of Kansas
Lawrence, Kan.

Dear Doctor Allen:

After talking with Dean Stallings, acting head of our athletic department, and with our President, Dr. C. W. Pugsley, I'm convinced that Elmer Schaake, if he doesn't have the inside track, at least is pretty much in the running for the Football Coach and Athletic Director job here.

I mentioned Schaake to Doctor Pugsley before it was known outside the inner circle that the job was to be open, not knowing whether or not Schaake would even be interested. But your fine letter has done more than anything else to bring favorable consideration.

We four Jayhawkers who are already on the staff here would be happy to have another recruit, and know of no one we'd prefer over Schaake.

Other things in favor of Schaake, from the Administration's point of view are: First, his age; there are many youngsters in responsible positions on the campus; Stallings himself is under 30; our Business Agent is under 25, and there are many other similar examples. Second, his physical make-up. This is a country of Scandinavian descent; the football boys are Swedes and Norwegians, most of them of pretty good proportions physically. While Schaake doesn't lay claim to Scandinavian ancestry, as far as I know, he is the type, and they think he would fit in.

People as a rule dread the climate here, but to date I don't see that it is so bad. It is 14 below this morning, but any Kansan, out of sight of a thermometer, would estimate it at about 15 above. Winters do last longer but there's not the shifting of temperatures from high to low so often.

With kindest personal regards, I remain

Sincerely yours,

Dear Mr. Showalter:

I am wondering if you ever come to Lawrence. If you do, I would like to have a confidential talk with you concerning your son, Joe. I am just a little afraid that he is not making the most out of his study here in Lawrence, and I would want you, as his father, to know the whole story.

You will please keep this confidential, because I am very desirous of helping both Joe and you and Mrs. Showalter to have Joe live at his best.

Dear Dick:

Very happy to have your letter of the 29th, and you can rest assured that I will be very happy to help you in any way possible.

I am enclosing carbon copy of a letter I have just written to C. E. McBride, and I would suggest that you drop in and get acquainted with him. Mac will give you a line which will introduce you and if there is any possible where he can help you I am sure Mac will be glad to throw games that might come in, in your direction.

Of course you know that I am out of the competitive football situation, but do have a lot of friends in the rugged game, as yet.

I am sorry that business is not better and although I am much against the war situation, I am hopeful that your business will take a turn for the better if it can go outside the war game.

Why wouldn't it be a good idea for you to write Matty Bell and ask him to keep you in mind for something. After you have written him, let me know and I will follow up. The way to get a good job is to get a good coach behind you. He can really place you in a good spot, and Matty is the kind of a fellow who will help a fellow. He is an especially good friend of mine, and I will be glad to cooperate with you in any way there. Doing a thing a fellow is happy in is the thing he ought to do.

Lots of good luck, Dick!

Dear Miss Betty:

I know that you thought that you played poorly, but you did not. Your splendid attitude and good sportsmanship under adverse playing conditions made you one of the favorites, even though you lost.

It is the wholesome attitude of players like you that really show the best under trying conditions.

I know it would have been a lot more fun for the foursome to have played on good links with grass greens, but to all intents and purposes you really acted as if you were enjoying it, and this fine attitude was reflected in the appreciative gallery that followed you people around.

We of the department, and I personally greatly appreciate your contribution. It was fine of all of you.

Dear Miss Kay:

May I thank you sincerely, both on behalf of myself and the Department of Physical Education.

Your gracious attitude in being enthusiastic about playing on the University golf course stamps you as a fine sportswoman. You, Betty, Glen and Ray contributed a very definite part in making the exhibition foursome a splendid success. I assure you we appreciate the same.

If at any time we can reciprocate the courtesy, please command us.

Dear Dick:

I had a fine visit with Madison Bell, coach of S.W.U. He had football while I taught basketball at the coaching school this summer at Lake Okoboji, in northern Iowa. Matty, his wife, and young daughter were up in the lake region with us and we had a great time. Swimming and boating were wonderful, and the weather was just about right.

Matty told me what a hit you made down at Dallas a year ago. He really thinks you are a football player, and a fellow who knows his way around when it comes to contacting and meeting people. He said that you spent most of your money looking over the town and meeting people, but you really had a dandy time. He asked me to give you his regards.

I see where they licked the pros again down there this fall, so it looks like Matty has their number. Incidentally, of course, he has some good football players.

I saw the all-star game in Chicago and my opinion is that this Sammy Baugh is just about the best piece of football anatomy on two pins. Of course, John Drake and Tinsley are no slouches - marvels, I would say. They never missed the boat when the captain called "All aboard".

My friends tell me that you really drive a doggy automobile. Sorry that I haven't seen you when you come to Lawrence to visit one of the outstanding citizens of Lawrence who deals in the gross munitions of war.

Dick, you know my promise to you when you were a freshman. I am wondering if you remember when I am glad to receive your letter with reference to the tickets. I note what you say about Gwinn Henry and Mr. Falkenstien.

No doubt I will hear from them and everything will be satisfactory. The only thing is I want to make arrangements about season tickets before they are all gone.

I want to thank you for your interest and your cooperation on account of Paul Cannady. He received such unusually fine treatment at the hands of Dean Lawson and yourself and the other members of the faculty that nothing could happen to disturb the fine feeling he and I both have. The fact is, though, that I saw Paul yesterday and he told me that he had been offered such a splendid position in Coffeyville as Personnel Director for a big company that he would be compelled to forego getting a degree. The work he is going to do is personnel work, for which he is eminently well qualified, so I am quite happy about his general outcome.

He asked me to thank you for the splendid treatment you had given him and I want to do that both for him and for myself.
