

November 3, 1943.

Governor Homer K. Ebright,
Baldwin, Kansas.

Dear Governor Homer:

Last week I wrote each one of the chairmen asking them to meet and submit their reports in writing and in duplicate - one for your record and one for ours. I told them in the letter that we would meet at 10:30 in the morning, but I believe since you have difficulty in getting away that 11 a.m. will be o.k. We can hurry along and get the job done.

The difficulty of meeting in the afternoon is that the members just don't stay put long enough to have a good meeting. We have always started ours at 10:30 and had a much better meeting than after lunch when everybody is fed up, so to speak, with eats and are rather lazy mentally and physically.

So, much as I dislike to have you neglect your school work, I believe since I have written all the chairmen that we had better say 11 o'clock at the Eldridge Hotel. I will have every arrangement made with Mike so that there will be no delay in getting started in our private quarters. I will have this appear in the Rotary bulletin so there will be no mistake regarding the 11 a.m. meeting time. I will follow your command and have the annual review properly filled out.

Sincerely and Rotarily,