

Season's Greetings

Christmas for Servicemen

The Rotary Club of Biddeford-Saco, Maine, invites all servicemen on leave to the club's Christmas party and presents them with cigarettes and other gifts.

The members of the Sugar-creek, Ohio, club prepare special Christmas cards for the servicemen from their community.

The members of the Rotary Club of Marysville, California, invite servicemen to their homes for Christmas dinner.

The Rotary Club of Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, is remembering all military members at Christmas time with various kinds of gifts and cards.

The members of the Rotary Club of North Sacramento, California, arrange for club members to entertain convalescent servicemen in their homes over Christmas week-end.

Christmas for Hill Children

The Rotary Club of Summer-ville-Trion, Georgia, has arranged for a Christmas program for children "back in the hills and mountains."

Let Us Drive With All Our Might

Let us persuade each administrative officer, each committeeman, and each employee of Rotary to re-examine and weigh all planned procedure covering each hour of outlined work as to it being a Rotary need adapted to the present world crisis.

If in their judgment slightly altered activity or procedure will produce better results in this emergency, we want them to ask for the privilege of adjustment.

We want Rotarians to think and do now as they have never thought and done before.

Let us post this notice on every desk and in every Rotary workshop. Individual initiative will win for Rotary the development of the individual. Your and my success in establishing these thoughts immediately into the minds of our fellow-workers will measure the success of Rotary this year.

Let us drive with all our might for this adaptability to the moment.

President

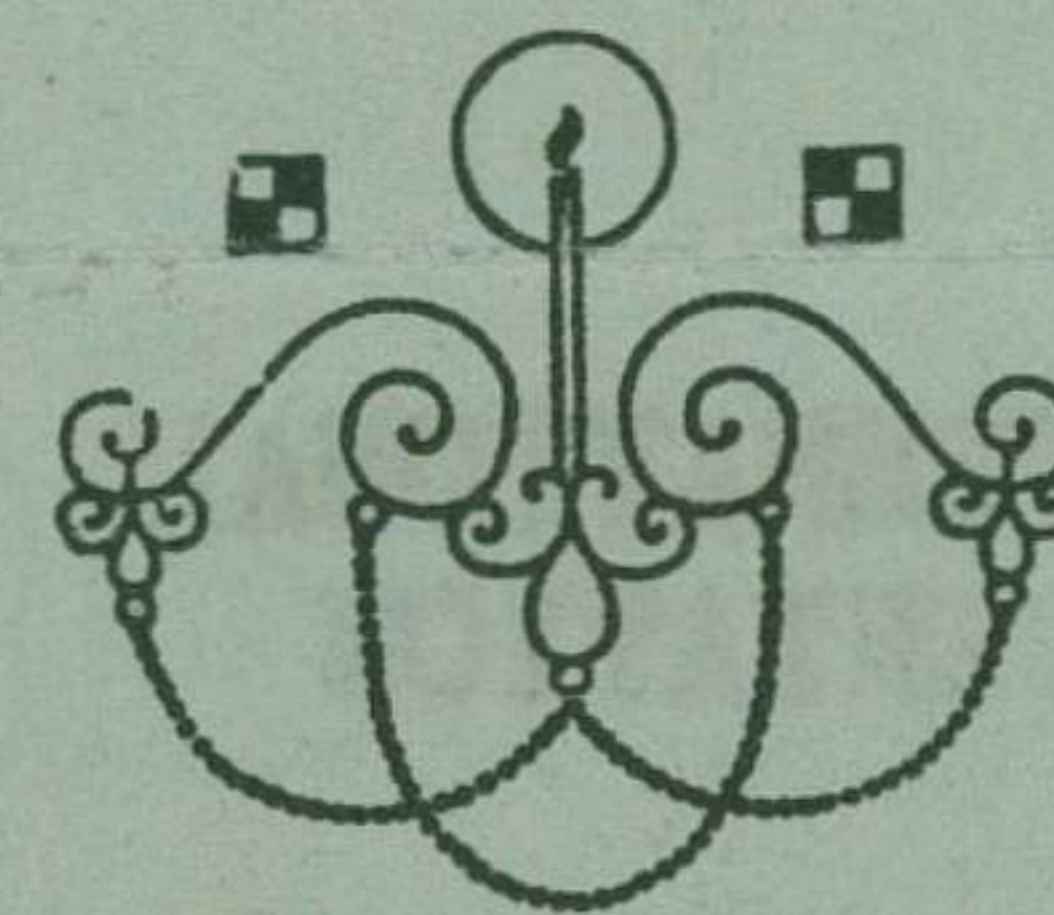

Christmas for Orphans

Masterton, New Zealand, entertains the children annually at a Christmas lunch. Last year there were 80 children present at this party.

Christmas for the Sick

The Rotary Club of Hamilton, New Zealand, sends a Christmas present to every child in a hospital.

The Christchurch, New Zealand, Rotary club sends a Christmas card and a brand new shilling to every child in hospital, orphanage and mental institution.

The Right Spirit

Heard one of our members say last Thursday, after the drawing for war bonds: "Don't know why I keep on buying these things. Never come anywhere close to winning," but he was smiling when he said it, and I know that next Thursday he would take another strip from one of the committee and smile again when the numbers he bought drew a blank. How do I know? Because he is a Rotarian, and like all the others, he'd like to win a bond, just for the fun of the thing, but he really doesn't expect it—and he looks upon the dollar a week he pays for the tickets as a small subscription to the war committee fund.
