United Nations Education Conference

A United Nations Education Conference, which was initiated by the International Service Committee of Dist. 13 (London, England and adjacent counties) and operated through two commissions, was attended by education experts from the Allied Governments in London, from the U.S.A., U.S.S.R., China, the British Dominions, the Board of Education, the Colonial Office, the British Council, the International Labor Office, and numerous national educational and youth organizations.

The conference adopted the findings and recommendations of the two commissions, viz., the adoption of a world-wide auxiliary language (English) and a world-wide system of interchange of students and teachers, which have been published in booklet form and presented to the respective governments and organizations by the representatives of the Allied Governments and of the national associations which took part.

Rotary and Crippled Children

Springfield, Ohio—has a welfare committee, which has been functioning for 25 years. The club raises approximately $2,700 a year for its crippled children work, employs an experienced social worker the year around, and provides her with an automobile. Recently the club gave $3,000 to the City Hospital as an aid in the establishment of a new department of physio-therapy for the treatment of infantile paralysis.

Detroit, Michigan — Boy Scout Troop No. 116 was organized by this club in 1935 at the Leland School for Crippled Children, and since that time has served approximately 150 boys.

These boys, before gas rationing, were taken in buses to a farm where they slept in the hay-mow and cooked outdoors. At one of Michigan's beautiful lakes they enjoyed swimming, boating and fishing. One-day trips were frequent.

Braces and crutches are not considered handicaps to Scout activities in Troop 116. They have been used in 14-mile hikes—and the boys come in quite fresh!

Albuquerque, New Mexico—A local doctor with the assistance of the Rotary club organized Troop No. 15 of this city. This troop is rather unique in that the boys are brought together from all over the city by the members of the Rotary Boys Work Committee. Meeting places were hard to find. At first the boys met in a coffee warehouse, then in a community center, hotel room, a church and now in the armory.

A former member of the troop had such a bad heart that the Rotarian who called for him, of necessity, carried him up and down stairs. This boy had a short time to live. The Rotarian faithfully carried out his responsibility until the very end.

Rochester, New York—In 1938 this club organized a Scout troop recruited from the orthopedic department of one of Rochester's schools. It has grown from 10 members to 32 and includes a Patrol at the Children's Convalescent Hospital four miles away.

Camping days spent at the Rotary Sunshine Camp are not idle ones, as these Scouts have built stone walks, erected a bridge across a creek, and built steps to a new dormitory. They also participate in many of the other activities enjoyed by normally healthy youngsters.

"The Supreme Question—in every human heart is, 'How can I find life?' " Thus recently wrote Governor Harry S. Binks, (Ottawa, Ont., Canada), of Dist. 170, and then went on to say that, "There are those in this world who think that they will find life when they can command the services of others. But Rotary believes that life is found in service rendered others. Rotary believes that the only end of material things is to obtain life—that material things do count much—that they are an extremely important element in our social structure; but unless you help build into that structure the elements of love and service, your life is not a success. Rotary says it is not enough to live and let live; we must live and help live."

Lest We Forget

On the morning of November 11, 1918, before the hour of eleven, thousands of boys were either killed or wounded. Every extra hour we work, every additional Bond we buy, every extra sacrifice we make will help cut the hours between now and victory, and save fighting mens' lives.

Have you ever taken a personal inventory of yourself, inquiring whether Rotary has been a beneficial influence in your life? It might be an interesting conference with yourself if you did take such an inventory.
