

4. Homer's Odyssey

The governor is saving gas by spending a day in each town and not driving back to Baldwin each night. He is trying to get acquainted with Kansas and has enjoyed the time which courteous Rotarians have given to him as they showed the points of interest in their city.

He has enjoyed every Rotary meeting in this "Homer's Odyssey". Every club has something of special interest in their activities to praise.

Marysville, Blue Rapids, Frankfort, Seneca, Holton, Leavenworth, Atchison, Valley Falls, Howard, Burlington, Lyndon -- these clubs have been visited in tours which aimed to go to the farthest parts of the district first.

We plan to visit next these clubs on their regular meetings days --
Tuesday August 17, Junction City
Wednesday August 18, Council Grove
Thursday August 19, Alma
Monday August 23, Overbrook
Tuesday August 24, Burlingame
Thursday August 26, Topeka
Monday August 30, Cottonwood Falls
Tuesday August 31, Emporia

5. Five Questions

1. Have you sent in your Semi-Annual Report to the Secretariat at Chicago, due July 1?
2. Has your club filed the information return on Form 990 with the Collector of Internal Revenue?
3. Has the president given to all the chairmen the printed directions which were mailed from the Secretariat?
4. Has the President called the Aims and Objects committee together, and does this committee help the Program Committee, and thus insure a balanced menu for the year?
5. Has the President presented to the Directors the question of the Rotary Foundation, and suggested that the Club take out a war bond for this endowment fund?

6. Rotarian Contest for September.

Every Rotarian reads the ROTARIAN. Every Rotary Club has a program once in a while based on this splendid magazine. Many clubs take five minutes once a month to listen to a member speak of the best articles in the latest number of the Rotarian.

We urge your participation in this contest for September. Will the president appoint a chairman to take charge of pushing the reading of the Rotarian magazine for September.

Let that chairman announce the first meeting in September that everyone make special effort to read at least three of the best articles in the September issue, and then at the end of the month, let that chairman quietly get a list of the members who have read three articles. That need take no time from the program period. A paper passed around during the luncheon can get the names of those who have read three articles. Will that chairman then drop the district governor a post card indicating what percentage of the club have thus read the magazine.

We are sure that all the clubs can report 100%. But we wish to KNOW that this is the case.

7. High School Essay Contest for October.

Every Rotarian believes in the second object of Rotary. This ideal of higher ethics in business and professional life should be stressed in America. What can a Rotary Club do more than just talk about it?

We believe that the time to do something about higher ethical standards in business life is while young people are in high school.

Will your committee on Vocational Service consider whether the club should confer with the High School principal and offer a good prize for the best essay on Business and Professional Ethics. That will stir up interest in the community.
