

September 22, 1943.

Prof. E. A. Stephenson,
University of Kansas.

Dear Stevie:

You are doing a swell job as chairman of the Rotary birthday committee. But, Stevie, you are appointing these lieutenants of yours and the chairman is not doing his stuff. Comparatively speaking, the general can do a job much superior to any of his lieutenants.

So on some of these birthdays why don't the old man take over and present them with the present and attendant courtesies?

You add a lot to the zest and good fellowship of the club and we want you on your feet doing your stuff.

Thanking you for your splendid work as chairman of the birthday committee, I am

Rotarily yours,

FCA:AH

President.