

he ranked sixth on the recovery per minute of a teammate's jump ball. The data indicate that this player was a good ball handler and an efficient player, but that he did not shoot enough in proportion to his playing time. He was rated twelfth by his teammates, and tenth by the coach and the freshmen.

Player L. Guard.

This boy had a total time of 34.5 minutes, 120 evaluation points, and no score points. He is the only player of the 13 in the study that did not score during the home season. He attempted 5 goals and 2 free throws. His error rate in ball handling was 3.3% and this was better than four of his teammates, who played longer. From the standpoint of playing efficiency he made a score of 84.5%, the lowest on the squad. The point most in favor of this boy was his rank in free throws attempted per minute (not making any) in which he was tied with player J for third place. This player ranked the lowest of the guards and was the only one to catch the ball more than he passed it. He was rated eleventh by the varsity and freshmen, and twelfth by the coach.

Player M. Forward.

This player ranked thirteenth in minutes of play (22.5), earned 117 evaluation points and 4 score points. He made one goal (33.3%) and 2 free throws (66.7%). He ranked tenth both in player efficiency (91.5%) and in error rate 3.4%. He had the highest rate of personal fouls per minute of any of the 13 boys. This player had a very definite height disadvantage as he was by far the shortest man on the squad and can be considered small in stature even in comparison with boys not playing college basketball. He was ranked thirteenth by all his fellow players and thirteenth by his coach.
