Allies Prepare To Enter Torn Naples

(International News Service)

The way was cleared today for early American and British occupation of Naples when German defense lines outside the historic city crumpled under terrific Allied onslaughts and the Nazis gave up their bitterly defended strong points in the mountain passes.

A spokesman at the headquarters of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in North Africa said that prospects of early conquest of Naples were "very bright" and all battle front dispatches indicated the Germans soon would evacuate the city.

U.S. Army Reported Near Naples

Latest reliable advices placed troops of the United States fifth army only 18 miles from Naples, and unless all present indications are countervailed by unexpected circumstances, it appeared likely that within the next 24 hours the Stars and Stripes would fly over the metropolis.

A London report said the Americans had surged into ancient Pompeii on the southeastern fringe of Naples.

Dispatches from General Eisenhower's headquarters made it clear that Nazi destruction of the city and its military installations now is complete.

New successes also were scored by the United Nations in Russia and the Southwest Pacific.

Aerial Photography, New Field, in Book By H. T. U. Smith

"Aerial Photographs and Their Applications," a book by H. T. U. Smith, assistant professor of geology, was published this summer by the D. Appleton-Century Co. The book gives the simpler methods of making maps from aerial photographs, and interpretation of photographs with special reference to the geologic point of view. Aerial photography for the engineer, geographer, and military scientist is also treated.

There are many illustrations in the book, half of them arranged for stereoscopic examination. The pictures were taken in Hawaii, Alaska, and about 24 states. Professor Smith worked on the book for a year. It is now being used as a textbook in two naval training schools.

The University was one of the first schools in the United States to offer courses in aerial photography. The first one was started five years ago for geology students. After the war started another was added for military training. Four former students are now officers in this work.

This summer Professor Smith taught a class to 50 professional petroleum geologists in aerial photography in Wichita.

MILTON S. EISENHOWER

Manhattan, (INS)—Milton S. Eisenhower, brother of America's famed General Dwight D. Eisenhower, will be inaugurated as president of Kansas State college in formal ceremonies Thursday.

Eisenhower, who has been serving as acting president, succeeds Dr. F. D. Farrell, who resigned.

Speakers for the occasion will include Dr. William M. Jardine, president of Wichita University, Gov. Andrew Schoepel, and Charles M. Harger, former chairman of the state board of regents.

College Changes Due By Friday

Because the courses are moving three times as rapidly as formerly, College students may not make any changes in the courses after Friday, Dean Paul B. Lawson announced today. Any changes, he said, should be made tomorrow in the College office at 229 Frank Strong hall.

Ninety of 112 Millions Sold

Topeka, (INS)—Officials of Kansas third war loan drive today reported a total sale of $90,125,819. The state's quota is 112 million.

Summer Activities Reviewed; Semester Crowded With Events

For the information of former students who weren't enrolled during the summer, there follows a resume of what happened on the campus in the University's first full summer semester:

Sixty ROTC juniors and seniors received their calls to OCS or army camps; Richard B. Stevens was elected president of the Alumni Association, he is a Lawrence lawyer and a member of the class of 1925; a "war-time" journalism minor of two semesters was announced by the department of journalism; twelve alumni were cited for distinguished service to their country.

Prof. H. P. Cady, former chairman of the department of chemistry and discoverer of helium in a Kansas gas field, died May 26 at his home.

Clarence Engle was elected to head the All-Student Council for

Council System Was Organized During Summer

The All-Student Council, which originated last spring when the Men's Student Council united with the Women's Self Governing Association, spent an active summer getting organized on its new system, with Clarence Engle acting as president in the absence of Peggy Davis.

The main business of the Council last summer consisted of revising the old WSGA and MSC bills and drawing up new bills of its own. The nine bills passed by the Council during the summer were on legislative procedure, elections to the Council, parking on the campus, creating a permanent archive in Watson library for all University publications and documents, smoking on the campus, judiciary procedure, provision for Council keys, committees to the Council, and the election of class officers and freshman representatives to the Council.

The ASC also provided for the publication of a summer student directory, investigated and found justifiable the $2.50 rise in the summer student health fee, and considered plans for selling activity tickets to the military groups this fall.

Women serving on the ASC during the summer were: Jill Peck, Janet Marvin, Doris Larson, Frances Perkins, Claudine Scott, Mary Martha Hudelson, Ruth Krehbiel, Grace Curry, Kathryn Bonewits, Betty Woodring Hall, Maxine Jones, Phyllis Wickert, Doris Bixby, Caroline Baker, Florence Harris, Louise Alderman, and Paula Reeve.

Men on the Council were: Thornton McClanahan, Reed Whetstone, Harlan Cope, Clarence Engle, Joe Beeler, Ben Matassarini, Alex Roth, Dick Miller, Harlan McDowell, Frank Gage, Mou Hui King, John Sells, and R. J. Atkinson.

the summer, since Peggy Davis was not enrolled during the session; J. J. Jakosky, dean of the School of Engineering, resigned June 2, the resignation effective August 1; the Registrar's office announced that nearly 1,100 students were enrolled for the summer semester and the five weeks session.

One hundred sixty-seven women started training as aeronautical technicians June 8; the ISA planned a social function for every week to keep Hill society alive; the sailors, marines, army medics, Rotsies, naval air cadets and civilian students, plus many of the faculty, worked during two days and nights to keep the Kaw from breaking its dikes and flooding north Lawrence.

WEC Revises House Rules

The summer activities of the All-Student Council consisted mainly of revising the old WSGA rules and changing the closing hours for University women.

The WEC adopted the following closing hours, effective from July 14 until the beginning of the five week session: Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday, 10:30 p.m.; Wednesday and Sunday, 11 p.m.; and Friday and Saturday, 1:00 a.m.

The 1 o'clock closing hour on Friday and Saturday nights did not prove satisfactory for continuance in the fall semester under present conditions on the campus, and the WEC changed the closing hours to 12 o'clock on Friday night and 12:45 on Saturday night. Closing hours on the other nights remained the same.

Another action of the WEC was to send out letters to all high school girl graduates in the state, encouraging them to come to the University this fall.

Members of the Women's Executive Committee last summer were Doris Larson, president; Kathryn Bonewits, vice-president; Doris Bixby, secretary; Claudine Scott, treasurer; Phyllis Wickert, Mary Martha Hudelson, Frances Perkins, Betty Woodring Hall, Jill Peck, Paula Reeve, Janet Marvin, Ruth Krehbiel, Grace Curry, Caroline Baker, Maxine Jones, Louise Alderman, and Florence Harris.

Saturday Classes Stay, Lawson Says

Suggestions for doubling class work on Friday or Monday to eliminate Saturday classes were stopped by Dean Paul B. Lawson of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences when he said today this would be impossible.

In this accelerated program the students have enough work to absorb in one day without adding another day's assignments, the Dean said. Lack of space would also handicap such a move, and some thought is being given to arranging for more classes on Saturday rather than abandoning the present ones.

Orchestra To Start Rehearsal Thursday

The University of Kansas orchestra will hold its first rehearsal of the year in Hoch auditorium, Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock, according to Prof. Russell L. Wiley, director of the University band and orchestra.

"We expect to have a 70 piece orchestra this year, and the prospects are looking good," Professor Wiley stated. "Both the orchestra and the band will be presented in a formal concert this fall and will be heard regularly over KFKU throughout the year."

Tryouts for the orchestra are being held Wednesday and Thursday nights and possibly another night this week, according to Professor Wiley.

Red Cross Asks Blood Donations Oct. 7 and 8

Students interested in donating blood to the Red Cross mobile blood bank unit on Oct. 7 and 8 may make appointments by calling 640 between 9 and 12 a.m., or 1:30 and 5 p.m. at the Red Cross classroom in the basement of the Community building.

Persons, ineligible are those with a cold at present, weighing under 110 pounds, or having a blood pressure over 200. Individuals in good health between the ages of 21 and 60 are accepted as donors, and also those from 18 to 21 with signed parental consent on a form provided at the Red Cross office. Donors are asked not to eat any fatty or fried food during the four hours before the appointment.

Appointments will be open for students between 1 and 6 p.m. on Thursday, and from 10 a.m. to 12 and 1 to 4 p.m. Friday, Oct. 8. Donated blood must be sent to Chicago each night for processing.

Dr. Ralph Canuteson, chairman of the committee on arrangement, urges all students that qualify to donate a pint at this third drive, as many are eligible for their silver button, signifying three pints of donations. A bronze button is presented on the first giving. "When the blood is needed, it is needed in a hurry," said Dr. Canuteson, "and especially following the campaigns in Sicily and Italy."

The maximum time required at the Red Cross bank is one hour for the entire process.

'A' Gas Coupons To Be Reduced

Washington, (INS)—A committee of midwestern congressmen were told today that the Office of Price Administration is preparing to cut midwest A gasoline coupon values from 3 to 2 gallons, effective October 1.

The information, according to Representative Brown (R) Ohio, chairman of the informal group, was based on a "rather well established report."

Representative Johnson (R) Indiana, said he had received the same information from an independent oil dealer in his district. The dealer, he said, added that the original reduction order had been held up by Price Administration Prentice Brown for the time being.

Union's New Cellar Nears Completion

Nestling among cement vats, saw horses, and mounds of shoveled dirt, the new root cellar on the south side of the Union building is nearing completion, according to Miss Hermina Zippel, director of food services in the cafeteria.

Approximately 15 feet by 30 feet, the cellar will be used to store supplies of fresh fruits and vegetables for the Navy.

---The Kansan Comments---

Learning Goes on To New Goals

The University goes on, come flood, epidemic, or war. That was the theme of the well-received speech of the former chairman of the Kansas Board of Regents in convocation yesterday.

The speaker, Fred M. Harris, knows what he is talking about. A law student at the University during the Spanish-American War, Mr. Harris since then has followed the progress and development of this school through World War I up to the present conflict.

Learning is one of those immutable things which cannot be destroyed. Under suppression it gathers its strength and continues growing underground, ready for the day when the sun of freedom shall shine again and it can burst forth in bloom.

The University, housing learning, takes on its deathless qualities. Emphasis may be placed now on science, mechanics, and physical training, but those arts of peace such as philosophy, music, literature will come into their own again.

Since men's minds and souls must live and grow too, even in war, it is not wise to eliminate from the college curriculum the fine arts and course primarily meditative. The University has realized this fact and kept open the same courses of study that were enjoyed in peace-times, adding war-time classes to suit the needs of the men in uniform and civilian students preparing for service.

It is vital that the peoples fighting to liberate enslaved intellects over the world do not themselves lose their culture, their freedom of thought and expression, and their institutions of learning.

After the war, the University will make great strides forward in the sciences. It is to be hoped that the social sciences and arts can keep pace with the scientific development. If they can, the world will find its way out of the prevailing darkness; if they cannot, the new world of science and no heart or soul will not be worth the sacrifice.

An optimist because he has seen the University after wars return not to normalcy but to something better, Mr. Harris predicts the continuance of KU as a great institution after the war. It is such liberal-thinking, public-spirited citizens of Kansas who believe that the University should lead the state in learning and ideals, who will bring this about.

Rock Chalk Talk

By MARY MORRILL

Proving that this years freshmen are no different: One rushee arrived at the Gamma Phi house at the stroke of 4:30 p.m. the day of teas and took her place demurely in a corner. She said yes and no quite intelligibly—intermittently she bared her teeth. Suddenly after an hour and a half she jumped as if prodded by an acetylene torch and dashed out the door. "Sorry to run off like this," she said giving the rush captain's hand a fleeting pump, "but its almost 6, and I haven't been to the Gamma Phi house yet."

When the Kappas went out their back door to school Tuesday morning they encountered a formal gown hanging from the porch light and numerous suitcases and toilet articles neatly arranged on their back steps. The formal was identified as belonging to Nancy Miller, pledge, who later admitted getting up at 5:30 a.m. so she could move in at the earliest possible moment and then losing heart when it came to ringing the doorbell at 7:30 and raising a possibly irate active.

At one sorority house when the closing hour bell rang their first "in" night three freshmen dashed madly out of their rooms inquiring if the house was on fire.

3,000 uniforms and she picked on him: Dr. Pierce, head of the Wesley Foundation on Mt. Oread, was somewhat taken aback when he called Donna Jean Stember at Watkins hall, and, before even uttering hello, was greeted with, "Well, hello, my little apple blossom!" Upon being informed that this was not her little apple blossom, Donna, an alum, almost swallowed the transmitter. Apple blossom is Claudine Chamberlain. Donna had been expecting a call from her.

How to Win the War: Having paid half the customary fee (reduction to service men only) Jack Jarvis, Sigma Nu, wishes to notify through this column the few hill women he has missed contacting personally that he will appreciate all cookies and candy sent to him while serving his country. Jack is a salt from PT3.

Out of the frying pan into the fire: After lining up Theta pledges here for the past 5 days, Woggie Stewart has rushed toward Wichita where she will be married in two weeks. Her engagement ring, according to excited Theta sisters, is a ruby surrounded by diamonds. Co-starring in the wedding with Woggie will of course, be Bill Jones, Beta.

Sororities Will Entertain Tonight With Dances for Service Men

Rush week for the sororities was climaxed yesterday afternoon with the formal pledging services. Tonight many of these women will be hostesses to fraternity pledge classes and to V-12 units.

Meetings of the Inter-fraternity Council will continue tonight to straighten out matters of rushing rules and to start the year off properly. Duties of this council are decreasing slightly since the end of a hurried rush week, but the men still have problems to iron out.

Hour dances, cabinet meetings, and get-togethers are planned for tonight, the only week night with 11 o'clock closing hours. Initiations, receptions, and class work are in the thoughts of many students struggling to keep up with the fast pace of a five-weeks session.

Parties and activities are crammed into a smaller amount of time with less preparation, in some cases, but the majority of last year's program will be carried through. Dress suits may be replaced with uniforms at social affairs this year, but the social affairs continue.

Allen Wed Yesterday

Miss Eleanor Allen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Forrest C. Allen, became the bride of George Philip Williams III of Lansdowne, Pa., at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist church last night. The service was read by the Rev. Edwin F. Price.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore an ivory satin gown whose heart shaped yoke was outlined in seed pearls. Her fingertip illusion veil was attached to a seed pearl coronet and she carried a bouquet of bouvardia and white orchids.

One of the bride's sisters, Mrs. L. P. Hamilton, Palo Alto, Calif., was matron of honor. Another sister, Mrs. Elwood R. Mons, Mrs. Milton T. Allen, sister-in-law of the bride Barbara Williams, sister of the groom; and Betty Jean Hess, were the bridesmaids. Flower girls were Miss Jane Perry, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. I. Perry of Lawrence, and Miss Judith Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Allen.

The groom's father, George Philip Williams II, was best man, and ushers were Pfc. Robert E. Allen, and Milton T. Allen, both brothers of the bride; Mr. L. P. Hamilton; and Ensign H. Clifton McWilliams.

The First Methodist church was decorated with white gladioli, palms and huckleberry. At the reception following the ceremony the Allen home was decorated with white astors and white gladioli.

After the reception the bride and groom left for Buckhill Falls Pa., in the Pocono mountains where they will spend their honeymoon. Following the honeymoon they will be at home in Lansdowne, Pa.

Joe Butler at Pecos Field

Pecos Army Air Field—Private First Class Joseph A. Butler, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Butler, Jr., 2905 Parkwood blvd., Kansas City, is now stationed at Pecos Army Air Field. Pfc. Butler is a graduate of Wyandotte high school and attended the University of Kansas.

Chi Omega Marries Army Lieutenant

Chi Omega has announced the marriage of Florence Clement of Independence to Lt. Beal Shaw, U. S. army, of Chillicothe, Mo. The ceremony was performed by the minister of the First Methodist church in Kansas City, Sept. 18.

The bride was graduated from the University in May. Lt. Shaw received his commission from the officer's candidate school at Fort Benning, Ga. He was formerly a student at the University and a member of Sigma Nu.

Jobs for Women Now Available

Many women students desiring secretarial and typing positions have registered with the Women's Employment Bureau, according to Miss Marie Miller, assistant to the Adviser of Women. Any employer who has a position open should call the bureau as soon as the tenure of some of the students at the University depends upon their obtaining employment.

Students who are not located by today and who want a job should bring their class schedules to the office so their free time can be correlated with their work.

From the Sidelines

By Bob Bock, Kansan Sports Editor

A note to ye ed yesterday takes us apart for having used the head, "Jays Are Held To Scoreless Tie," stating that the Junction City High Schoolers are sometimes called Jays and that the Creighton Blue Jays are often called just plain Jays for short, but as for Kansas, exclaims our friend quite exasperated, "they have never been Jays in the past, they are not now Jays, and we hope never will be—but are, JAY-HAWKS." As a good excuse is better than none, we thought that since it has been used in Kansan sports reports last year that it would be all right to use it now since the word, "Jayhawks," is pretty long to use in a five column spread and still get anything said. So we apologize if we have offended you and promise to do our best not to make that error again.

Write In!

Incidentally, if you disagree with us on something, have some red hot sports story you would like to contribute, or perhaps if you would like to write this column yourself some time, just write in care of the Kansan Sports Editor. Yes, if you think we are writing up Joe Jones, the halfback, too much and have been doing grave injustice to Sam Smith, do write and tell us about it!

Bill Kanaga

Introducing Bill Kanaga, sophomore navy trainee, who will cover all intramurals for the Kansan and who will occasionally appear as guest columnist! Bill, who stays at PT 1, is a brother of Clint Kanaga, former Kansan sports editor, now in the Marines.

Pioneer Patter

The game Friday night between the Jayhawks and the Denver U. Pioneers will mark the third time that these two teams have taken the field against each other . . . Both clubs have each won one game so this week's duel will break the tie . . . In 1932 Kansas won 13 to 12 and last year the Pioneers upset the K.U. boys 17 to 0. . . Head Coach Mark Duncan of the Rocky Mountain school coaches a razzle-dazzle type of game, running off the tricky "T" formation with a man in motion or the alternate spread shift designed to keep opponents guessing . . . Four boys from the Sunflower state, three from Lyons and one from Sterling, are on the Denver roster . . . Jack Carberry states that if Denver's 100 per cent civilian team whips Kansas' trainee loaded eleven it will be one of the major upsets of the country . . .

Lindley Hall Issues Basketball Challenge

Where does he get that, we wonder . . . The Pioneers got a sock on the chin during the week when the navy called three of its top players Harold Hand, Chet Latchem, and Homer Frederic, a center . . . The former two, first string backs, will be sorely missed . . . Star of the Denver team is Johnny Adams, powerful fullback . . . Denver's team is built mostly of freshmen since they have no navy trainees . . . The Pioneers will play none of the former Big Seven teams because of a ban declared against them by the conference . . . The other schools have boycotted Denver because of her withdrawal from the conference, forcing them to play an independent schedule with Army teams, a few non-conference Colorado teams, and several from the Midwest.

Daily Becomes Tri-Weekly
The Daily Nebraskan has become a four-page tri-weekly.

Basketball poked its head to the surface as a fall sport today when the Lindley hall ASTP-ASTRP issued a challenge for a game two weeks from Saturday night in Hoch auditorium.

Acceptance of the challenge should be made through the Daily Kansan according to the team members, who are as follows:

|                                   | Height | Weight |

SUMMER ACTIVITIES---

member of Beta Theta Pi, was chosen to head the freshman YMCA on June 15; Gwinn Henry, head football coach last year, announced that he had accepted a position at the University of New Mexico.

Miss Carrie M. Watson, University librarian for whom the library was named, died in Lawrence June 27.

Five hundred V-12's arrived on the campus July 1; the Fourth was just another day as far as the University was concerned, with no vacation.

Summer football practice began July 12, with 52 men out; and on August 1, the first quotas of the 776 men in ASTP and ASTRP arrived; it was revealed that more than 50 former K.U. men were attending school at Oberlin College in Ohio. The army had to eat at the stadium from temporary kitchens which were set up under the supervision of Harry O'Kane.
