GOLLEGE BASKETBALL TEAMS ARE GHARGED WITH SELLING OUT TO NEW YORK GAMBLERS

FORREST (PHOG) ALLEN SAYS NEWSPAPERS

Famed Kansas Coach Gives Warning to Education Heads That Disgrace Worse Than Black Sox Affair Brews Under Their Noses.

(By JACK CARBERRY.) (Denver Post Sports Editor and Conductor of "The Second Guess" Column.)

HE flat charge that college basketball teams, appearing in in the picture at present. Not Madison Square Garden, New York, have "thrown games for a tidy sum," paid by gamblers, is made in two letters Games Thrown for Cash, Says Allen written by Forrest C. (Phog) Allen, director of physical education and varsity basketball coach at the University of Kansas, received by THE DENVER POST Friday.

Allen's letters, one addressed to the writer, the other to Sam Smith, United Press sports editor in Kansas City, are highly sensational in nature, and are printed in full here. They follow publication in "The Second Guess" column of a brief review of Allen's plan to have the office of the president of the United States name a commissioner of athletics, with power to direct and regulate college athletic activity thruout the nation.

It was stated then that Allen loved to see his name in headlines and that he harbored, among other feelings, jealousies of Colorado university's head basketball coach, Forrest (Frosty) Cox, who, previously, had been mentioned in press dispatches as being a possible successor to Allen at Kansas U.

The charges made in Allen's letters are of special interest to basketball fans of the Rocky Mountain area at this time in that two Big Seven clubs, Utah university's N. C. A. A. champions and Wyoming, both have heavy bookings not only in Madison Square Garden but thruout the east, especially in Buffalo, where Ned Irish, Madison Square Garden promoter, has established a branch of his enterprise, and in Philadelphia, where recently Judge K. M. Landis called upon police to aid in curbing gamblers operating in connection with baseball. Allen, in making his charge,

"PHOG" ALLEN. further alleges that newspapers, with full knowledge that games have been "thrown" in Madison Square Garden, "have kept it quiet, or fairly quiet." If the charge, as Allen alleges, is true, he need but submit whatever proof he may have, upon which he has based his charge, to THE DENVER POST and it will receive the fullest possible airing.

That Allen's charge, printed herewith, can stand ignored by the his organized baseball Madison Square authorities is unthinkable. Allen makes a flat state- racing is so crooked as ment, without a single qualification. "IT" (college boys throwing a basketball game for money paid them by gamblers) "HAS ALREADY body knows it. It is the money cia assurance, but they will still go there will be but one game this HAPPENED," Allen writes. It is to be hoped Irish and the Madison angle, the betting angle, that out for the extra dough. Square Garden people call upon the Kansas mentor—admittedly one of has made it so. Judge Landis the best-informed men in the entire basketball world—to come forward is fighting betting on profes- save the decency of collegiate athwith full details.

If, as Allen says, games have already been "thrown," the entire structure of basketball is threatened unless full and corrective action is taken at once. Irish and Madison Square Garden cannot ignore such a charge made from such a high source. The letters, which need no further comment, follow:

'Phog' Is Not a Jealous Man, He Says

"Dear Jack: Our football coach, Mr. Henry Shenk, handed me the copy of your Friday, Oct. 13, DENVER POST sport page. I had written Frosty regarding the possibility of his team coming to Kansas City to play in a foursome with Missouri, Kansas State and Kansas. A year ago last August when Frosty's this delinquency by failing to do mother passed away I wrote Frosty expressing my sympathy to him.

I think you know what I mean because the very article that I wrote Sam Smith. the United Press sports editor in Kansas City, shows that the evil of which I complained is still very dominant and will be.

In addition to the football game fans who arrive at 2 p. m. -and all are urged to be on hand at that hour-will be treated to a great navy review. This will be a most impressive spectacle in which all the navy men at Colorado university, will take part. The starting time of the review will be 2 p. m. on the dot. It has been final week at the University of Colorado and there has been plenty of midnight oil burned; but this won't put a damper on the homecoming spirit for Saturday's clash. Altho many students will have left for their vacations by game time, a good crowd is expected. The game will see stars of both squads in action in this region for the last time. At both schools the terms ended Friday and many of either graduating or being trans-Purdy. In addition, both amphibious squads will lose several re-

The will to win this, their last game, should make both the teams fight all the harder, and with the probable regional collegiate grid champ emerging the winner, a slam-bang game up to the final gun is forecast. There will be plenty of fireworks for the Buffs and the Tigers are both offensively minded clubs. On a basis of their records, the home team looks like a slight favorite.

Coach Frank Potts of the Buffs has been working his charges week at a steady pace. Flaws in the Boulder running and passing attack have commanded the most attention, but defensive play has not been neglected. Potts knows that in Ziegler and Cardinelli the Tigers have a pair of very capable running threats. He has his own Bob West and Price to turn the ends, and Stu Worden to rip the line with either Dick Morrow or Don Evans to throw the ball.

Miller and Price, who have graduated, will be co-captains for the game. Both lettered at Colorado last year and both have been key men at their positions on the line and in the backfield. Miller played a year at Denver after leaving Manual. Price was at Baylor in Texas before coming to C. U. as a marine. The lineups:

The above-mentioned exception to Denver's fitness is Johnny Adams, crashing fullback who is still on crutches with an injured knee. He will not even suit up for the game and will be replaced by Gene Mapelli, hard-working sophomore who himself is just a week removed from the injury list.

Aside from Adams Denver is set to offer stiff resistance to the powerful Cowboys, who have won three games in impressive style. The Pioneers will be going up against one of the finest tailbacks in the United States in Bob Fenimore, the Aggies' 190-pound triple threat ace. Denver had a brief look at him last year when the Aggies won a 7-6 decision over the Pioneers on a snowcovered field on Thanksgiving day. Fenimore didn't get a fair chance to show his wares that day and is said to be considerably improved this year to boot, which bodes no good for the Pioneers and their homecoming celebration.

Denver will have several lineup changes this week besides the Mapelli for Adams change. Diminutive Dick Yates, scrappy watch-charm guard, has won a starting position and will take over at the spot occupied last week by Shayle Smith. Lorton Krushas will be at right end instead of Jack Loftus and Leon Diner will answer the whistle at

MIKE DODDS TO RUN

Wheaton, Ill., Oct. 20.—(A. P.)— Gil Dodds, world's champion miler, is going to get a closeup on how his kid brother is progressing in distance running.

The country's top distance runner and Boston divinity student will be a 'guest star" Saturday at a triangular cross country meet by runners from the University of Chicago, Culver academy and Wheaton college. Gil's 17-year-old brother, Mike, is a member of the Wheaton college

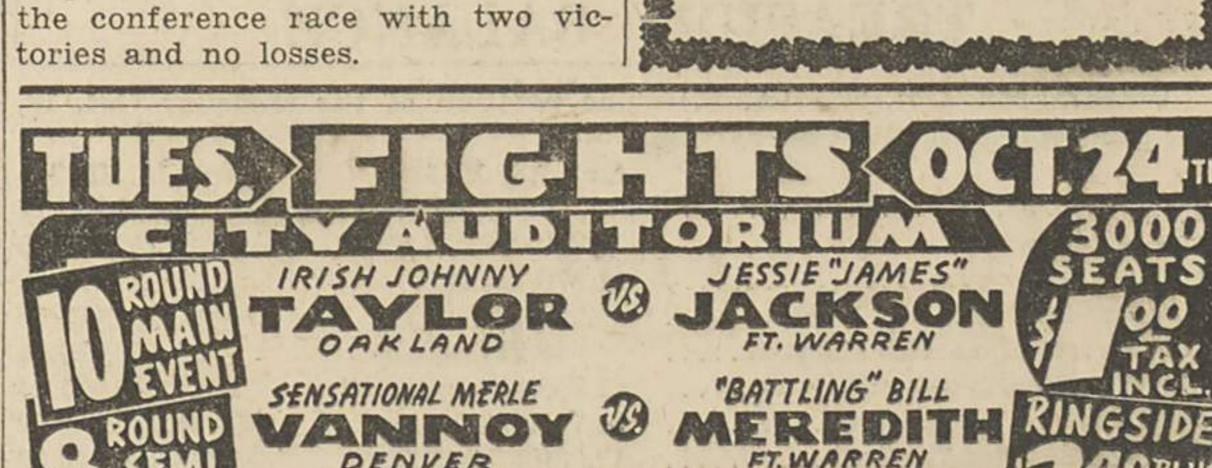

The champion, out of competition since last spring, will grant a handicap in the race, which is being staged for the benefit of the national

Horse Trainer Dies

Taos, N. M., Oct. 20.-Capt. Patrick O'Hay, 74-year-old actor, soldier of fortune and race horse trainer, died of a heart attack at his home here Thursday night. He was trainer and part owner of the horse Gay Dalton, which won nine of ten starts on Mexico City tracks last season.
