

GEORGE ANDREWS

Mr. Forrest Allen
Lawrence, Ks.

Dear Mr. Allen:

In the early twenties, when I was a student at K.U., we were having a rally in the new stadium on the evening before a home coming football game.

You gave a fine talk and during your talk you quoted a Whitney, I think. The quotation ended something like this, "Whether Ye win, or whether ye lose; pray God Ye be a man."

I have to make a talk to some young people the last of next week and think that I could use the whole quotation to an advantage. If you could recall the author and the quotation, and mail to me in the inclosed envelope, I would thank you very much.

I have a cousin, Bill Cochrane, who graduates from Salina High School this spring. If he has not been called to your attention as possible timer for a K.U. athlete, I would suggest you inquire about his performance in high school. I realize that a high school record does not promise us that the college performance will be successful, but I do think that his ability with a couple of years of training will make him as good as the average football or basketball player.

If you are interested in him I will be glad to use my influence to get him to attend K.U.

Trusting that I may get this information from you, I want to thank you in advance.

Sincerely yours,

George Andrews (signed)
