

BECAUSE KANSAS University will not take Junior College athletes for varsity duty until they have had a year on the freshman team, Hutchinson Junior College will lose its basketball team captain next winter.

Marvin Sollenberger, member of the Hutchinson Blue Dragon team which won the state championship last year, all-conference guard, and captain elect of the 1939-40 team, has announced he plans to enroll next fall at Kansas University.

Whether by accident or by design, Sollenberger has been given to understand he would not have a chance to make the Kansas University team should he wait another year.

He has gained the impression that Kansas U. coaches do not desire to work with or train a player if they have him for only two years of competition. And Sollenberger does not pick his impressions out of thin air.

Sollenberger is taking an engineering course. If he transfers to K. U. this fall, he will have one year on the freshman team
