even though he has completed freshman work—both in school hours and basketball. He will then be eligible for three years with the K. U. varsity.

Hutchinson wishes Sollenberger well at K. U. With an all Ark Valley and all-Juco conference record behind him there can be no doubt he'll be a definite asset to the Kansas squad.

"Hutchinson Junior College and local fans would gladly relinquish Sollenberger to K. U. after another year." But the idea of robbing a state junior college conference championship team of its star performer just to put him on a freshman squad where he wouldn't learn more basketball than he would here, sticks in the throat.

From now on, if we get any tips on good athletes, we're going to send them to Fort Hays or Kansas State.
