Dear Doctor Allen:

John and I are now both at home after a fine summer up north. It seemed to be just the thing I needed for I gained twelve pounds very little of which is fat. At present I'm working in the Boys Department at Rothschilds.

If it would be convenient for you John and I should like to come down next Sunday to get lined up on jobs and a room for next year.

We both hope you had a pleasant summer and hope the the coming year will be as pleasant.

Sincerely

Curvin H. Green
