that the Eastern League is not relatively important enough to rate so much space - particularly on historical data.

The matter of the order, in which various sections of the country appear in the Guide is worth considering. As a matter of fact, I have discussed this in the past with John Doyle with a view to rotation, or some change in order from year to year. John thinks the present order has become traditional, that it follows geographical and N.B.A.A. lines from East to West. Here again, no formal complaint has been registered with me and so we have not thrashed the matter out. It ought to be on the agenda for the next annual meeting. In the meantime I will take the matter up with John Doyle to see if anything can be done this year.

Sincerely yours,
Oswald T.
