

Many schools are very much handicapped by the wide difference in the type of basketball equipment permitted under the rules. Any rules which would make for a standardization of balls, backboards, baskets and boundary lines would certainly make for better, more interesting games and certainly meet with our approval in this area. We favor the new seamless ball but would rather go back to the old ball with seams unless there is an absolute standardizing of this item. The same thing holds true with the other equipment mentioned above. We feel a definite handicap has been resulting to many teams under the present lax rules.

I believe the biggest difficulty with our present rules is in the interpretation as few coaches or officials interpret them the same. If the contact clause could be explained so no question could arise as to whom the foul should be called on, it would help the game greatly.
