Dear Carl:

I have your letter of February 27 with enclosure asking for the first team and second team Big Six selections. Right after the Iowa State game at Ames on March 3 I will be happy to mail this selection to you from Ames on Monday night. I believe that we should wait until after that game for the final determination.

We are going to Nebraska tonight in a badly crippled condition and I am not expecting to win either the Nebraska or the Iowa State game. Bobby Allen's right elbow is so badly injured from a bruise and a bad sprain that he is in no condition to play at all, and perhaps will not get in either game. If he does he will be way below par and we need everything we have 100% perfect to off-set the superior height and weight advantage of our two northern adversaries.

We will try to win the Oklahoma game and if we get a tie I will consider that we have had more good fortune than normally should come to us. We have to take our bad breaks because we have had so many good breaks.

With kindest regards, I am,

Sincerely yours,
