Dear Fellow Coaches and Officials:

The annual Rules Interpretation meeting of the National Basketball Committee of the United States and Canada, Fifth District of the N.C.A.A., will be held at the Hotel Kansas Citian, on December 4th. We trust that you can be present for the meeting.

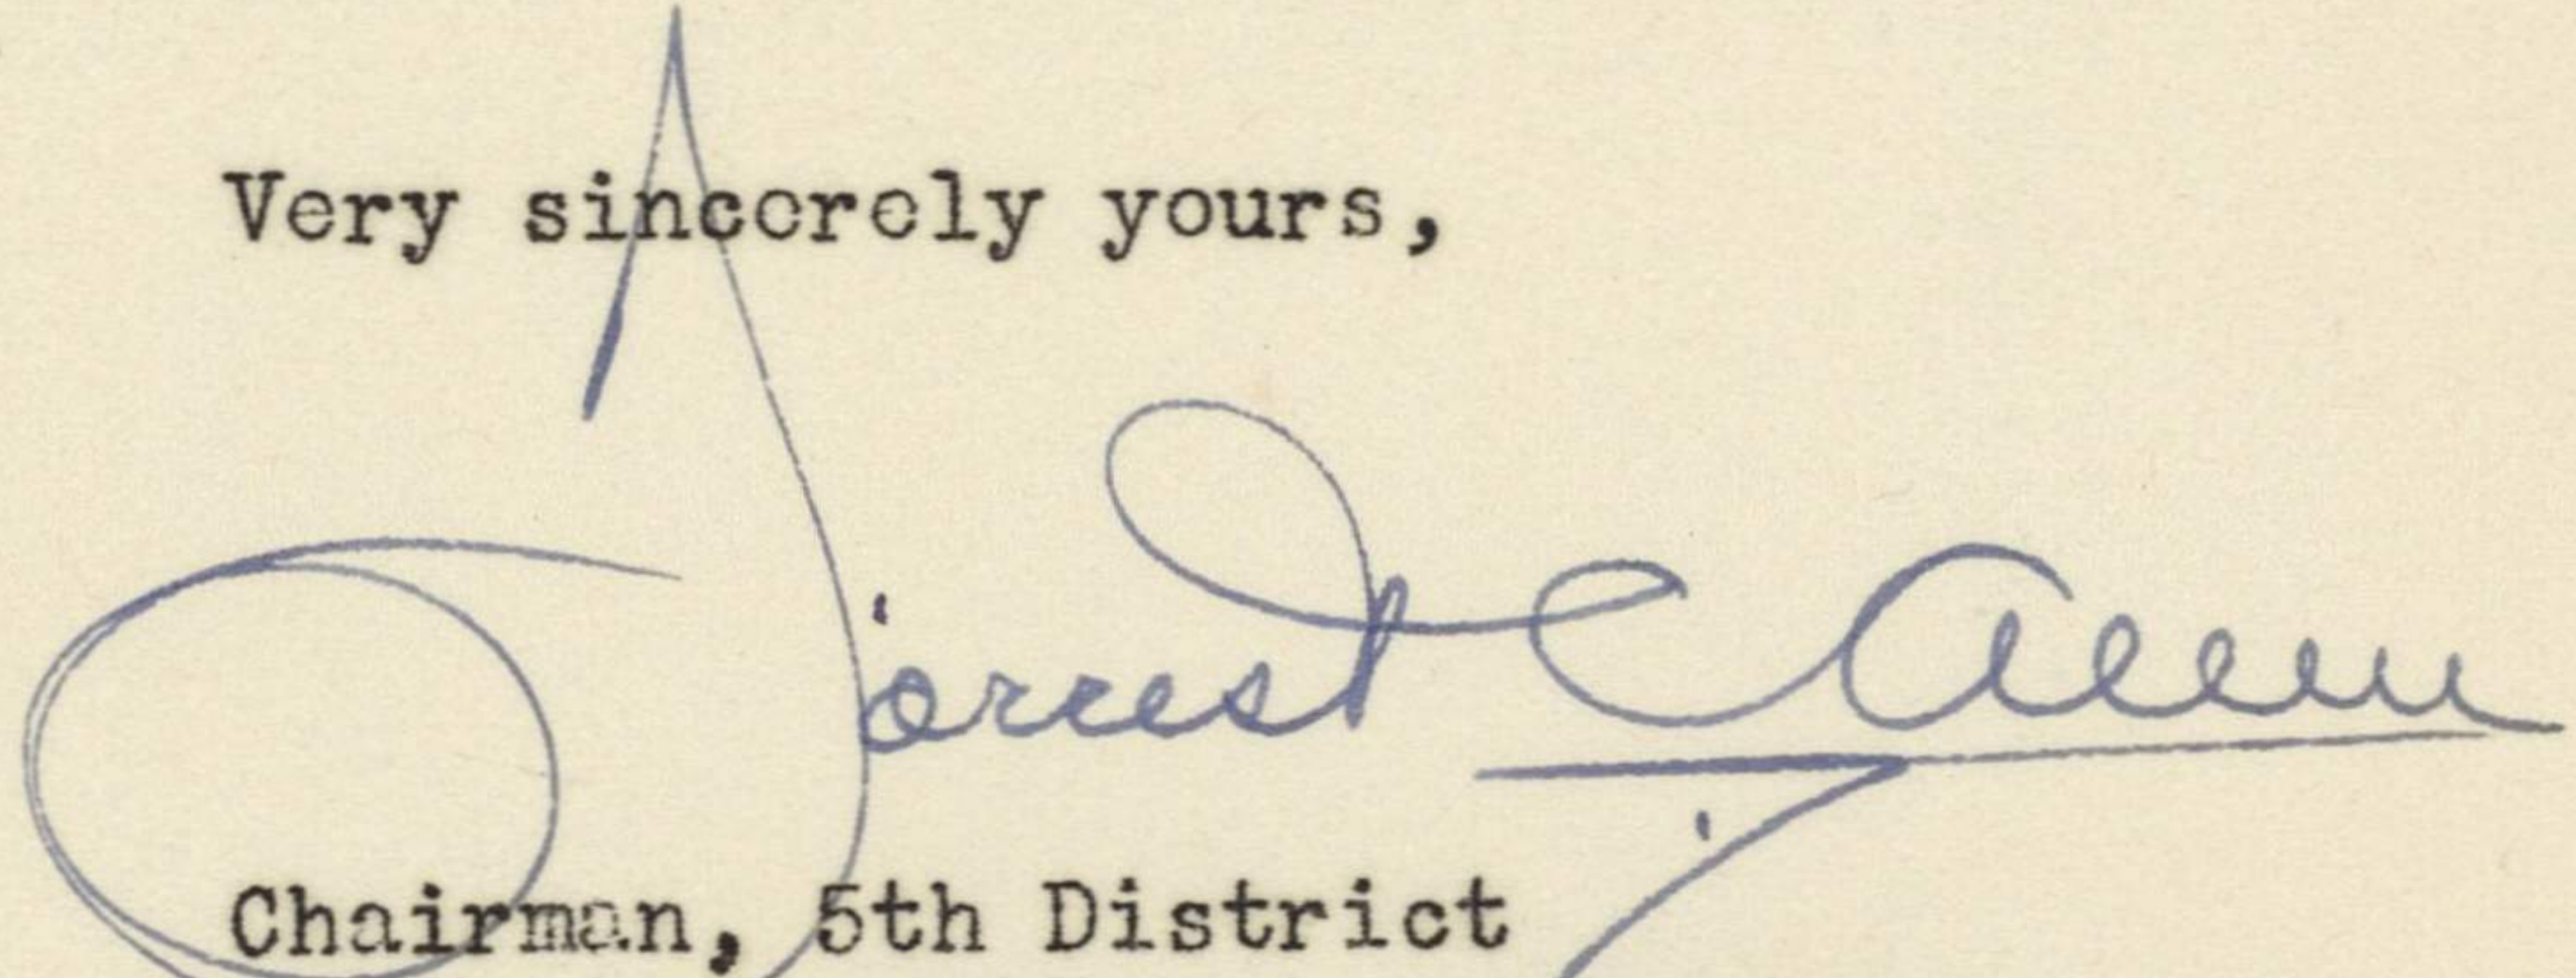

The open meeting is scheduled to start at 2 p.m. The Big Six coaches will meet in their own closed session from 9 to 11 a.m. The same schedule will be maintained by the coaches of the Missouri Valley Conference. A joint meeting of the two conference coaches for uniformity of interpretation will be held from 11 a.m. to 12 m.

So as to conform with the coaches meeting and at the same time to provide some instructive and informative entertainment, a basketball movie talkie will be shown to all coaches and officials, no players admitted, from 12 to 1:30 p.m.

This picture was show last summer and it shows the basketball styles of Dave McMillan, of Minnesota; Dr. H. C. Carlson, of Pittsburgh; Clair Bee, of Long Island; George Keogan, of Notre Dame; John Bunn, of Stanford; and the writer. Chuck Taylor, of the Converse Company, directed the picture. The Phillips "66" team was used as the demonstration team for all of the coaches to show their style. All who have seen the picture pronounce it an excellent portrayal of different styles of basketball.

I trust that you will be present to lend your personality in making this open meeting one of the most enjoyable and profitable yet held.

Very sincerely yours,

Chairman, 5th District
(Comprising States of Missouri,
Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma)
N.C.A.A. Basketball Rules Committee.

P.S. Some of you coaches far from Kansas City might get together and make the trip in one car. We believe the meeting will be worth while.
