

October 11, 1937.

Mr. Forrest O. Calvin,
215 Pershing Road,
Kansas City, Mo.

Dear Forrest:

I wrote Bob Russell suggesting that for the meeting of the National Collegiate Basketball Rules meeting, which will be held in Kansas City at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, December 4, we have a showing of this new film.

It happens that I am Fifth District Chairman of the National Rules body, and the interpretation of rules for coaches and officials is held at that time. The meeting will be under my direction and for that reason I would appreciate if your film company, or the powers that be, could fortuitously exhibit the film that day for the benefit of all those assembled.

The coaches that will be present that day will be basketball coaches of the Big Six and the other Missouri Valley conference coaches, Creighton, Tulsa, Drake, and so forth, and all the high school and college coaches of Kansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Colorado, and Dakota. That is our district. It may be that they will not all be here, but they are invited guests for that meeting. We generally have 200 to 250 in attendance.

If we could notify the officials and others early of this attraction I am very sure that we will have a large following out. That is the reason I wrote Bob, and Bob suggested that I write you.

The meetings are general held at the Hotel Kansas Citian. George Veenker, the Athletic Director of Iowa State College, is secretary of the Big Six directors, and he sets the meeting place. I will know about that in a few days, and will communicate that information to you. We could set a showing of the film at 2:30 p.m.