

October 19, 1939.

Mr. Earl Falkenstein,
Generalissimo of the Pecuniary,
Athletic Office.

Dear Earl:

Fred Nelson's very interesting epistle addressed to your department has been carefully scrutinized, analyzed and de-propagandized by the gentleman on the other side of the Bristol board to the south of you.

After carefully cogitating on this lengthy and incoherent epistle, I am wont to render this tribute to Generalissimo Nelson:

Guinea-Gog, the One-Eyed Monstrosity, captured on the Coast of Zamboanga, sixty miles from nowhere. When captured this young Goliath could say nothing, but now he can say "Maw" and Pa".

No matter how cold the north wind blows, he is still your ethnological relative!

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation, Varsity Basketball Coach.
