Dear Don:

I am sending you a copy of a couple of letters that I have written Director Gwinn Henry. This is not an official document, but a personal epistle to you endeavoring to express our opinion of the basketball situation.

Each year basketball is becoming a more lucrative sport and it is our desire to return more money to the athletic association and not increase the expenciture, wherever possible. It seems to us that where we have short trips, like Nebraska to Kansas State, or Kansas State to Lawrence, or in situations where a bus could be taken cheaper than riding a train, or in situations where a team like Missouri or Iowa State playing a two-game trip and an additional man is necessary on account of the game being much more strenuous than it has heretofore, that it might be vitally necessary to conserve the health of the boys by adding an additional player to the roster.

I am sure that you as a football coach agree with the policy of not taking needless men on a trip when the coach does not expect to play them. It does not add to the morale of the group and serves no good purpose, so I assure you that the basketball coaches are cognizant of this necessary fact. I will greatly appreciate your careful consideration of these involved items.

Regarding the possibility of permission to play twenty games instead of the eighteen-game limit, the idea was to play at least two of those twenty games during the Christmas holidays. The Big Ten Conference has long permitted the playing of twenty games without any restriction of a Christmas schedule. I am sure that this allowance has been in operation for over ten years.

Anticipating the pleasure of seeing you in Lincoln, I am

Very sincerely yours,

Mr. Earl Kloss, Chairman,
Finance Committee,
Athletic Association,
University of Kansas.

Dear Mr. Kloss:

I desire to make an explanation regarding the trip of the Kansas basketball team to Manhattan on February 20. I did not take this trip nor contemplate it without taking the matter up with Mr. Earl Falkenstein, the financial secretary, regarding transportation.

I went to Mr. Falkenstein and told him that I desired to use a bus, and telling him when we desired to go. I was not in favor of using my own car for hauling athletes because, first, of the fact that the Athletic Association allows but five cents a mile for the entire car load, which is much cheaper than I can drive my Buick; and secondly, because the Kansas State Athletic Association awards the coaches one and one-half cents per man per mile, which makes an average of six cents per mile with four traveling in the car.

Mr. Falkenstein reported to me that a bus from Lawrence, Kansas, to Manhattan, Kansas, would cost $42.00, round trip. I said to him, "Well, that is more than we could take four cars for." That was how I conceived the idea of taking extra men. I knew full well the ruling regarding the ten men competitors, so we suited up but ten men. But for a lessened charge for mileage I did not think that anyone would object to our spending less money for transportation by taking four cars than we could have by taking the bus. I discussed this fully with Mr. Falkenstein.

The expenditure for the meals for the boys was done at my own hazard, and therefore I accept full responsibility for that expenditure, although I am frank to say that in my opinion it is a parsimonious policy.

It is a known fact that every school in the conference carried upon several occasions twelve to fifteen players. But I make no alibi for this. This was a conference ruling, but we followed that ruling for non-conference games with Creighton and Oklahoma Aggies. Although I desired to take one extra man to the Oklahoma Aggies, I was asked by you to conform to the ten player limit, if possible. I understand the Oklahoma Aggie game will return us $1,000 guarantee. I think in such instances as this that the request is unreasonable. Basketball is a much more strenuous game now than it was heretofore, and sometimes we need an extra man to safeguard the players' health.

Because an individual does one act or several to make his firm or corporation or company a profit is no reason why that individual should expect to dictate the policies of the concern. However, I wish to call your attention to the fact that as a member of the Olympic and Tournament Committee of the N.C.A.A. I did prevail upon this committee to return the twenty per cent that was due the N.C.A.A. to the various schools. In the case of the Oklahoma Aggie game we profited $166.66, and in the case of the Big Six Conference play-off at Wichita we profited to the amount of $165.95, making a total of $332.61. As I say, not one penny of this money would have been returned to the University of Kansas if I had not been doubly aggressive in getting this money for the Athletic Association.

I know of not one instance when I have been excessive in expenditure of the Athletic Association money. Further, I have coached the freshman team for several years, saving the major portion of that small $300 allowance in the budget for such work.

I assure you hereafter I will be doubly diligent in following the technical rule as laid down. Apparently it makes no difference whether an individual activates himself in behalf of the economy program of the Athletic Association. We must follow rules.

I am further cognizant of the fact that the Big Six play-off at Wichita netted $742.72, and that the play-off with the Oklahoma Aggies netted $743.73, making a total of $1486.45, in addition to the $332.61.

By right of equity, Kansas should receive something for participating in the Western play-off in Kansas City on March 22 and 23, and in the Finals on March 30. But there is no rule to that effect. I am uncertain as to how diligently you care to have me, as a member of this Olympic and Tournament Committee, prosecute Kansas' case.

Very sincerely yours,

Director of Physical Education and Recreation, Varsity Basketball Coach.

P.S. I desire to make a statement regarding the Kansas State trip. I went to Mr. Earl Falkenstien and asked for a bus. Mr. Falkenstien obtained the price, and it was $42.00. I have always traveled in a bus because we did not desire to use private cars. But feeling that four cars were cheaper than the bus at $42.00, I used private cars. I feel that I am entitled on this situation to charge the price of the bus, $42.00, and I am cutting the meals down two-thirds because I paid personally the food bill for Horace Mason and Jay Simon, who were not a part of the basketball group. I am therefore revising the bill to include $42.00 for bus trip and $38.82 for meals, making a total of $80.82.

Dear Gwinn and Vic:

Last night I was in Leavenworth on a vocational guidance mission and during our conference with the physical education majors there I met Gene Logan, 195-pound tackle on the Leavenworth High School team. Gene is a brother of Roland Logan, and he is interested, of course, in attending some school where he can play football and study physical education.

I queried him regarding his desire to attend the University of Kansas and he seemed more than lukewarm. I inquired as to his academic rating and they say that he is a plugger. He looks like a good rough football player.

I am wondering if you have heard of him, or if you have any contacts out for him. He stated that he was leaning slightly toward the Aggies. Of course, that is easily understandable since Forsberg (?), an old Aggie man, is coaching there.

This is for your information.

Dear Edwin and Vic:

Some people from Eldorado were in the office yesterday morning and talked to me regarding Calvin Miller, of Eldorado, Kansas. They also spoke about Dale Covert and Bob Kent.

These people tell me that Calvin Miller is an end of exceptional ability and that Wichita University is after him. He is a high jumper, and has a splendid record in the high jump. He is also a swell basketball player.

I am wondering if it would not be possible to get a list from you of your prospective stars in high schools that you are interested in so that when there is a duplication of basketball and track boys we could work together, rather than working individually as we have done in the past few years. Each of us have contacts that might prove very effective and helpful, and instead of distributing our shot we might concentrate it for our collective and individual good.

Have you done anything in regard to Miller? As I said, Wichita U. wants him to solve one of their end problems.

Very cordially yours,

Dear Gwinn and Vic:

Only the other day Ben Marshall, of the Law School, stopped by to talk to me regarding Fred Sprague of Lincoln, Kansas. Neither of you were in the office so Ben then asked me if I would see you and tell you that Sprague is only a very average student and he doubted whether he was bright enough to make his grades here at the University.

However, he said that Sprague is a big, powerful fellow and he might help out in a football way. I think he was counting avoirdupois rather than brains.

I told Ben that I would communicate this information to you, and he asked that if you were not interested in the boy to tell him so that he could perhaps get the boy lined up in some small college. Will you kindly let Ben know at 1423 Ohio Street, telephone 3252R?

Dear Dr. Allen:

The main purpose of this letter is to offer my sincere congratulations for your victory over us. I know how sweet it must have been to you and your players, and realize how proud you must be of a team that has done so well. I thought that the officials did a fine job. We had the chances and couldn't take advantage of them. Consequently, my hand goes out to you and your boys for a swell performance. Please let them know of our high regard and respect for them as players and as gentlemen.

As far as I am concerned only one minor incident spoils an otherwise perfect set-up, and in mentioning it there is no desire to rob you or the Kansas boys of any of the joy of the victory. Since, however, a similar situation might afford you some embarrassment I feel it best to tell you about it.

Our boys followed the score as posted on the front of the balcony. The score keeper there did some wishful thinking whenever a foul was called on Missouri, and posted the successful throw before the attempt was made. From the bench I saw what was happening and made mental correction in his score, but the players state that they were confused by his act. Perhaps you recall that in the closing minutes the score was 40-40 and a foul was called on us. Immediately, the balcony scorekeeper posted a 41 for Kansas, and our team called time to check the score. I appreciate the hopes of your attendant that by calling Ebling's shot he was helping his schoolmate psychologically, but feel that the move was unwise and unfair to your opponents.

Please don't think I am quibbling nor attempting to offer any alibi. My thought is that, sooner or later, such premature scoring may cause violent complaint by some opponent who may feel that he was forced to an unnecessary change in tactics. I hope you understand that this is a suggestion for the future, and not a complaint dealing with the past; that I feel in our case it was not of importance, but might readily be the cause of preventable friction.

Yours truly,

University of Kansas

Dear Dr. Allen:

Thank you very kindly for the copy of your letter to Mr. Gwinn Henry under date of January 23rd.

It appears to me that Director
Ahearn must have forgotten about the meeting at Ames, Iowa last May 18th and 19th in regard to the trip limits of varsity players in conference competition.

The portion of the minutes pertaining to this ruling is as follows:

Trip Player Limits

"The following trip limits to varsity players eligible in conference competition for conference games were set as a limit:

Motion by Ahearn, seconded by Stidham-Basketball, 10 men."

According to the paragraph explaining your conversation with Mr. Ahearn and Coach Browne, Mr. Ahearn is going back to the time when this ruling was in effect, but by common agreement of the coaches and directors, it was disregarded after the financial situation was relieved somewhat at the Big Six schools.

You further quote him as saying, "he had no idea it was being resurrected for this year; it was not a new motion but an old one," which leads me to believe that he has forgotten the motion he made at the Big Six meeting in Ames last spring.

Apparently someone else has forgotten
since Nebraska carried fourteen men for the game at Manhattan.

Dear Quinn:

I went to Manhattan last Saturday night to watch
Nebraska play Kansas State.

Recalling our conversation regarding the Aggies procedure of bringing fourteen men to Lawrence on January 12, I want you to know that Nebraska brought fourteen men to Manhattan for their Nebraska-Kansas State game. This number, of course, is in excess of the Big Six agreement.

"Mike" Ahearn, Coach Browne and I discussed the matter at the behest of Mr. Ahearn, and Mr. Ahearn said that he remembered that ruling was made way back in 1931 when financial difficulties had beset the athletic associations of the different schools. Mike said he had no idea it was being resurrected for this year, and it was not a new motion but an old one. He stated the ruling had always been in existence but when times got better the directors had disregarded it.

This is just for your information. However, I want to say that as far as I am concerned we expect to obey the mandate to the letter, even though the rule was made back in 1931 and had not been observed.

Very sincerely yours,

Mr. Gwinn Henry,
Director of Athletics,
University of Kansas.

Dear Gwinn:

I stopped by your home this morning to express my sincere regret to you for the unfortunate incident that happened on the football field at a time when Kansas had assumed the mastery of Missouri, both mentally and physically. I wanted to compliment you on your ability to take a very light and less capable football team as far as experience and power are concerned, and convert it into a real threat and a joy unspeakable to the Kansas fans.

The reason that I am writing this letter is to commiserate you on having your hopes blasted by such an unfortunate occurrence. You certainly were in the ball game and were definitely assuming a commanding lead. Had we been able to obtain the ball at this juncture the psychological stage was set for Ralph Miller to do his stuff when and if we held Missouri for no gains, which we would have done. But naturally this thoughtlessness on the part of one man caused a state of mental depression and a situation in which our boys could not stem the tide of this catastrophe.

I am unable to extend these words to you personally due to the fact that I am leaving for Cleveland, Ohio, at noon today to meet with L. W. St. John of Ohio State, and Olsen, coach of basketball at Ohio State, as well as with Floyd Rowe, of the Cleveland public schools, on a national basketball rules interpretation meeting for the fourth district. I will return Wednesday night or Thursday morning, at which time I will see you, and I trust by that time you are feeling better. I am just hazarding a guess as to how you feel this morning.

With assurances of my continued loyalty to you and my cooperation with the department, I am

Sincerely yours,
