Dear Mrs Corwin

Thanks for kind trouble.
The drawing has arrived.

The body seems rather stout & this could not be easily remedied
unless the paper were lengthened & the shape altered.

As soon as I feel well
abt it I will write a line to Constantin.

Thanks as to my health. I am pretty well as usual &

Hope you are keeping
well in this sudden
cold weather.

As you were always
kind to my writings
- did you see an article in the Spectator
in England in Contemporary Rev: for September? I do not know the author
whose name is both.

Yours sincerely
D. G. Repetti
