

(as you pointed out)
are very clear to me now, but most disagreeably did not occur to me at the moment.

If you think of giving me the pleasure of a look-in, Sunday
will suit me better than tomorrow (Saturday.) I wish I could, as usual
prepare dinner on Sunday; but you know to whom I am
dinner with me that day & will have a particular matter
— that of pers. S. —
to speak of, which may overlast dinner
(as I do not know

9
if he can come before) & which he will probably want to speak of after with me. But if you can turn up about 8 or half past, he will still be here &
both of us glad to see you. Of course, you will take a walk, & if convenient
to you, a supper while we all chat.

Yours affectionately
D.R.
