

to the editor, who, for
aught one knows,
might think it
under the mark.

My other enclosure
is less agreeable -
being a discouraging
reply from Rae.

However, he shall see the pictures if he can & wishes to do so; but I had better not answer
his note till I hear from you as to when you could meet
him at my hotel
according to his proposed visit to town.

It is barely conceivable that a little wild
enthusiasm on your part might twist
him to the buying level. I shall tell him of the Peesepine & its price as 1000g

Is there any chance
of your really getting this way at all?
We might talk
over several things
to advantage

As ever Yours
D. J. D.