Dear George:

Enclosed is correspondence from the ANPa which is self explanatory. Will you be good enough to suggest which attorney or engineer I should approach for advice and suggestion? I think it would be just as well at this stage, to not discuss the matter with any other newspaper, which will explain why I am not writing those listed in the attached letter.

Please return the enclosures, and thanks for your trouble and interest.

Dear Janet:..

I want you to know how much I enjoyed Mickey while he was at the lake. He is a good companion and was a big addition to the party. He and the boys got along without any trouble whatsoever, and they think he is "tops" as a cousin.

Sorry that I could not be on hand to see him land that 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ pound walleye. You probably know that many men have fished Minnesota lakes for twenty-five years and have not caught a walleye that large. I have caught many thru the years and 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ pounds is the largest I have ever landed.

Marie and the boys expect to be back here Monday morning and the folks will return Thursday. It will seem good to have everyone at home again.

Love to all,

Dear Blanche:

I believe you will be interested in knowing about my experience in returning from Minneapolis Wednesday night. The pullman contained a dozen or fifteen boys returning from a camp near Grand Rapids and when I heard some of them mention Tulsa, I asked if they knew my niece, Eileen Maloney. The boys immediately made me feel like I was the most fortunate Uncle on earth, and I could see that Eileen is considered the slickest chick in the oil metropolis.

One little fellow said, "Really? Gosh, but she is good looking." I did not get all their names, but two of the boys are your near neighbors. One is named Wilson and he says he lives two doors from you, his father being a doctor. The most reserved of the boys was your next door neighbor, Whitehill, who was much larger and older than others in the party. There was a heavy set boy by the name of Parker who was most gentlemanly, and a little fellow with a speech impediment by the name of Price who occupied the upper over me.

Marie and the boys expect to return Monday morning and the folks will follow on Thursday. As usual I had a grand time and Marie did everything to make it a happy vacation for me.

Love to all,

Gentlemen:

I am paying a bill to Burton's Service, Brainerd, Minnesota, amounting to $7.00, covering damages caused to our refrigerator located at our summer cottage on Route 3, Brainerd, Minnesota. The damage was caused by lightning during a storm on August 7th, 1944.

I believe this damage is covered by my personal floater policy, and if so, I will appreciate your attention to the loss.

Dear George:

I returned the Flagg sketch as you suggested but it has not been returned with your incriminating comment. Please don't fail me on this.

Now that Jackman has requested a move to Topeka for WREN, it makes me wonder if it would be advisable for the Journal-World to make application for a FM license. What is your advice and whom would you recommend to handle such an application if it is the advisable thing to do.

My best to all the Hollingberys.

SPECIAL SERVICES

In addition to these usual services, The Wilmotte Laboratory offers many others in connection with designing and supervising the complete installation of the entire electrical and sound systems.

These services are always rendered in consultation with the client's architect, decorator and construction contractor, and include the following:

- 1) Design of the studio, including sound treatment and lighting.
- 2) Design of studio equipment layout.
- 3) Design of transmitter equipment layout, including monitoring and measuring equipment.
- 4) Design of all wiring systems in studio and transmitter house.
- 5) Plan for telephone and relay circuits between studio and transmitter house.
- 6) Constant engineering supervision during construction and installation.
- 7) Plan for picking up programs from remote points.
- 8) Plan for remote relay equipment, truck mounted, for picking up outdoor events.
- 9) Making necessary arrangements with public utilities and client's contractors.
- 10) Checking station's performance and coverage, initially and at intervals thereafter.
- 11) Design and construction of any special equipment desired or required by the client.

These services are available in connection with any broadcast station—FM (frequency modulation), AM (amplitude modulation), facsimile, or television.

THE WILMOTTE LABORATORY

TWO PROBLEMS immediately face the person or firm desiring to enter the new field of FM (frequency modulation) or television broadcasting.

One is to satisfy the financial and technical requirements imposed by the Federal Communications Commission upon applicants for broadcasting licenses.

The other is to meet his own standards of broadcasting quality and service, and of station design and appearance—and this is often the more difficult of the two problems. The assistance of the best technical radio engineering skill and supervision available to him is needed to meet it effectively and economically.

A good attorney familiar with the rules and regulations of the Federal Communications Commission can prepare the application for an FM broadcasting license.

And a good consulting radio engineer can prepare the required technical statement describing the proposed equipment and estimating the cost of operation and service expected in accordance with the rules of the Federal Communications Commission.

But the actual installation of an FM or television broadcasting station demands the services of a trained technical organization, capable of producing complete designs and supervising the entire installation of the electrical and sound systems.

THE WILMOTTE LABORATORY

The staff of The Wilmotte Laboratory consists of over forty persons, including ten engineers, seven assistant engineers, three draftsmen, and seventeen mechanics and assemblymen.

Available to clients of The Wilmotte Laboratory are engineers having years of experience in AM (amplitude modulation), and also there is available knowledge based on actual experience in the comparatively new field of constructing and operating FM (frequency modulation) stations.

The Wilmotte Laboratory has been engaged under service and consultant contracts by the Army, Navy, and Office of Scientific Research and Development.

The principal laboratory is situated at 1469 Church Street, N. W., and its machine and workshop at 1532 14th Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

RAYMOND M. WILMOTTE

Directing the broadcast engineering, construction and research activities is Raymond M. Wilmotte, a consulting radio engineer of more than ten years' experience.

Mr. Wilmotte has made many technical contributions to radio, including development of the first directional antenna successfully preventing one station from interfering with another on the same frequency. Since then, nearly all stations on the regular broadcast band have come to use directional antennas.

SERVICES AVAILABLE

The Wilmotte Laboratory is one of the country's largest consulting radio engineering organizations specializing in broadcasting.

An advantage of retaining its services is that, under one directing head, are competent engineers and technicians who can plan and supervise the entire operation from preparing the technical statement in support of the application for license, to the moment the new station begins broadcasting.

The Wilmotte Laboratory offers the following services usual among radio consulting engineers:

- 1) Preparation of the engineering data for FCC license applications.
- 2) Providing expert witnesses at public hearings on applications which may be called.
- 3) Help in selection of the transmitter site for most effective service and coverage.
- 4) Making field surveys to check the service after the station is in operation.
- 5) Tuning the Antenna. (Not usually necessary for FM and television stations.)
- 6) Making proofs of performance and resistance measurements as required by the FCC.
- 7) Making studio measurements to eliminate undesirable studio noise, or distortion of voice and music by studio equipment.

Yesterday your good wife brought us your new address which gives me the opportunity to write a few lines to say hello and to tell you I am proud to know a man who has the ability and courage to be in charge of a heavy howitzer group in the campaign to take France. Most of us probably fail to appreciate your great responsibility and the troubles you have in carrying out your important work.

I wish you all the success in the world, and I hope it will not be long until Germany sues for peace, and you can begin to make plans for your return to home.

Lawrence continues to be a busy and crowded place as Hercules continues to add more workers. With most of the Navy out of K. U., enrollment probably will be small this fall, but authorities are expecting the biggest crop of students ever when the war is over. By and large, the folks back home are getting along remarkably well.

QUIGLEY TO DIRECT ATHLETICS AT KANSAS

LAWRENCE, Kan., July 24 (AP) —E. C. Quigley, whose cry of "You can't do that!" has roared over many sports fields in his long career as an arbiter, took a new job today, that of rebuilding the athletic fortunes of Kansas University.

The former National League umpire was appointed director of athletics and he promised an aggressive sports program for the Bix Six school, his alma mater.

The 63-year-old Quigley, who boasts, "I'm only about 41 in how I get around," said he would have full charge of the school's athletics, and added, "I'm big enough and strong enough and feel I can carry any load down there."

He is happy to get the job, which he said had been offered him three times in the last twenty-five years. He has no contract, but says, "I will stay there as long as they want me." Neither he nor the school would reveal the salary.

He was with the National League for thirty-two years, twenty-five of them as an active umpire, and then became umpire in chief. At Kansas he faces a hard task, particularly in football. The school has been in the lower brackets of the Big Six Conference for many years. Kansas, too, has been without a regular athletic director since Gwinn Henry resigned two years ago.

Quigley began his coaching career at Warrensburg (Mo.) Teachers and for thirteen years was athletic director at St. Mary's (Kan.) College before he became a baseball umpire and college sports official.

Dear Chuck:

We all hope Quigley will bring a decided improvement in Kansas football. The Chancellor has said he thinks winning football, rightly or wrongly, has a place in college activities, and I believe he brought Quigley here with the admonition that he wanted to see more victories on Stadium Field. Characteristically, Quigley has already spoken out and told the public he expects to have just as good a team as any other school in the league.

I like our present coaches, Henry Shenk and Elmer Schaaake, but it takes more than good coaching to keep up in football these days. Quigley has the job of seeing that we get our share of good players and that they are properly equipped and cared for. It is up to the Chancellor to see that we have a faculty which is sympathetic to students on the squad.

I have had my hopes up before and have been disappointed, so this time I will be on the sidelines waiting to see what happens.

I am glad that you wrote because I like to keep in touch with you and the others up at the Phi Psi House who were my good friends not so many years ago. I was in New York in April and I wish that I had given you a ring, but you know how hurried most New York trips are.

Did you notice in the Times book section where Stanley Pennell's new book "History of Rome Hanks" is presaged as one of the best pieces of fiction in a generation?

Greetings and best wishes on your birthday. I hope this August 2nd will bring you the great happiness that you deserve, and that good fortune and good health will be yours for many years ahead. A fellow like you, who has brought so much happiness into the lives of others, should have a lot of fun and happiness directed his way.

Marie and the boys left yesterday for Gull Lake, and I hope to spend ten days with them in the middle of August. We won't have the pleasure of fishing with you over on Wilson Bay, but perhaps we can make up for lost time next year. I don't know much about the Connecticut shore, but it must be a super-super place to lure you away from Rutters.

Now that Dolph and John are on deck I will get more fishing reports, and I expect father's results will be better now that he has his two old-time guides to take him around the lake.

I see Art and Nell frequently and tonight will have the pleasure of having dinner with them at the Martin's, our across-the-street neighbors.

You know from experience that John's daddy is frequently behind schedule, and it was that way last night when Mrs. Simons and I arrived at the Union Pacific station to tell you good-bye. The train had just pulled out, and we were so sorry that we did not get to see you.

I told John he was a little bum for not arranging to have us take you to the station because it would have been a real pleasure. All of us think you are a grand fellow and John is a fortunate boy to have a person like you as a playmate.

I hope you will have the happiest summer you have ever had and from what I hear about Trail's End, it is a great place to be a camper. If you are the same kind of a boy out there that you are here at home, I know you will be one of the best liked in the entire camp.

I know you worked hard and made a lot of money to pay your own expenses out there, so you will not be hard up for cash. Even so, here is an extra buck that I wish you would use in having a little extra fun sometime when you visit the store.

Thanks for your note, and while I greatly appreciate your thoughtfulness in talking to Cliff and Roger about the fruit, I won't make any plans for extra apricot pies until I have the cans in my possession. It is good of you to be so interested.

Attached is one of Lt. Maloney's new cards. The box is on my desk ready to be mailed to him just as soon as we have the address.

I hope you will have the best trip ever to Colorado and that the fishing will bring you as much good fortune as your usual results from "Hearts" and "Stud Poker". I saw Wayne McCoy a few nights ago, and he was still crying about the treatment you afforded him during his last visit to Lake City.

I learned last night that Art does not plan to start digging his potatoes until the 24th which means he will have a close squeak to be thru in time to leave on the 27th.

Mother and dad seem to be happy in Minnesota, although father quickly got his fill of still fishing and is anxious to have someone who can swing him around the lake with the motor. Dolph and John will be up there on Friday, and the first few days after their arrival probably will mean fishing with Grandad most of the time.

It was nice to see all of you here in Lawrence, but every time after you leave, I wished that we might have spent more time together and done more visiting. I think a lot of you and your family.

Love to all,

New York 17, New York

Dear Dee:

Thanks for your July 4th note which I will pass along to Marie with another piece of "fanmail". The column seemed to click because we have had numerous comments.

Marie went to Detroit from Chicago to visit with friends and then on up to a lake in Michigan. We expect her back the latter part of next week.

I did get to visit with Chester Shaw, and he spoke of his recent visit with you in New York. I saw him once alone and then later we met in a dining room where he was with Ernest Lindley.

Your mother may have written that Lawrence is filling up again and we probably will keep on crowding in more because Hercules is adding 5,000 employees.

Business remains good but the manpower shortage is becoming more acute, and it is difficult to replace a trained printer. The latest blow came when Ted Pugh, who has been here nearly twenty-four years, told us he was leaving. Ted has not been well for the last year and plans to spend two or three months in Colorado resting up and then he probably will go to the west coast.

With the best of wishes to you and Marge, I am

Sincerely,

Dolph Simons

Dear George and Betty:

I am anxious to hear about Betsy. Will you be good enough to let me know how she is getting along and the success of the hospital visit the morning after she had the fall.

She is a wonderful girl and was such a good sport that evening.

You and your family made this last trip to Chicago a very happy experience, and as usual you were "tops" in hospitality.

Thanks for everything.

Sincerely,

Dolph Simons
