Mothers Day

JOTHERS DAY, the second Sunday of May, founded by Ann Jarvis of Philadelphia, is the day chosen for loving remembrance by each individual for his or her mother, either living or dead. This year finds many mothers happy in their homes surrounded by loving children. Others grieve for sons lost in the war. Worldly conditions this Mothers Day will bring closer ties in families and more serious thought of the world of tomor-

PARTIES, DANCES, TEST BUSY AGGIES

Military Ball Year's Last Big Social Event

BY RUTH ANN MORTON STILLWATER, May 12-Mother's Day drew hundreds of Aggies towards home and Mom this weekend, but before they left the campus many found time for a dance or picnic. A "Centennial Ball" was given by members, pledges and alumnae of Alpha Delta Pi last night in the Exhibition room of the Student Union. The formal celebrated the 100th birthday of the founding of the sorority, the oldest secret society for women, on May 15, 1851, in Macon, Ga. "Miss Centennial," the A. D. Pi contributing the most to her chapter, was presented by Dean R. R. Oglesby. Rose trellises and ivy to resemble a southern garden decorated the room. Waltzing in true southern tradition were Doris Pitcher and Charlie Carmack, Helen Stewart and Dick Burgess, Helen Holley and Duane Pugh, Patsy Swearingen and Ronald Rabon, Barbara Webber and Jim Smith, and Pat Hughes and Bill Endacott.

Others dancing to the music of the Varsitonians were Nancy Adamson and Paul Woods, Charlotte Inslee and Joe DeHoff, Janice McClendon and Stan Prather, Jane Boothe and Max Platt and Barbara Arnold and John Bryce.

ROUNDING OUT THEIR social calendar with a picnic at Yost Lake last night were the Sigma Phi Epsilons. Hugh Stone and Ron Carlson were in charge of arrangements. Eating, swimming and boating were enjoyed by Virginia Brown and Phil Viseur, Mary Lou Adams and Hugh Stone, Lou Anne Breckenridge and Larry Jernigan, Frances Durkin and Clyde Ragsdale, Pat-White and Ron Carlson, Betty Moore and Newt Kessler, Ann Wolfe and Harold Love, Barbara Gordon and Bob Harrison, Sue Crooks and Ralph Rolston, and Helaine Wright and Jack Watson.

The annual White Rose Formal of Sigma Nu will be held in their chapter house Friday night. Two fountains and a false ceiling decorated with shining stars will give the room an appearance of an outdoor garden, Couples at the dance were Pete Peters and Betty Tolbert, Jim Tillman and Judy Moyse, Ernie Rhyan and Joan Preston, Louis Heavner and Mary Towers, Bob Chapman and Ruby Gandall, Tom Holland and Sue Ingram, Gayland Nesbitt and Norma Perrin, Dean Goates and Doris Segmon, Jim Billingsley and Joe Mull, Bob Lawrence and Stevie Stevens, Jim Frost and Pete Stokes, John and Mary Tanner, and David McGee and Dorothy Manning.

The Women's Athletic Assn. under Squeaky Pitcher is completing their year's activities with an honor banquet Monday night. Last weekend they took their annual trip to Yost, spending the night. Golf, swimming, boating and a camp fire program were participated in by A&M's top women athletes. Thursday night W. A. A. held their spring initiation giving membership pins to about fifteen girls.
