

I shall miss her, for indeed she was one of the most remarkable, lovable women I have ever known.

However absent she may be in body, her graciousness ^{and} beauty of character will remain in the hearts of us who loved her.

With deep affection,
Eleanor Ellen Williams

Nov. 9, 1948