Dear Blanche:

The enclosed copy of a letter to Dorothea gives most of the news.

As you know, I am very fond of Eileen and try to see her frequently. It will not be to her disadvantage to have Doctor Schwegler's assistance because he is supposed to be tops in the town.

I think we all not only love Pat but we are proud of him for the remarkable courage he has shown, and we believe that that courage is going to carry him through and make a well man of him again.

It is still warm and no frost, but the walnut trees have quite largely shed their leaves. I shall have plenty of walnuts this year but until they invent a machine to not only crack them but pick out the meat, we can't find a great deal of use for them.

They say that John pretty nearly went wild in the Manhattan game. He was quarterback and captain, and for about the first time called a lot of plays where he carried the ball. The Manhattan paper gave him great acclaim.

I am always glad to hear from you and like to have you write me often.

Lots of love,
