

Willard is a good husband and father and proud of him.

laid off but The company have kept him on which we do appreciate. Hillard has it been so fortunate he was laid off just before Christmas. Nothing can operate at full capacity with this coal shortage.

We hope another year to sell this house and buy one with a few acres of land somewhere in New York state between Buffalo and Rochester and have a small business of some kind that won't make us all so dependent on weekly wages for food rent etc.

Hillard has two smart little children and I would like to help them in whatever line their desires are - New York has an excellent educational system.

I must tell one of my nicest Christmas presents from Eugene an electric miter (I have wanted one for years) and an aluminum ovenette complete with utensils.

Thank you again for the money, I can find many places for it. You being Cousin
