Dear friends:

I remember quite vividly the Christmas we had together.

I told Otis and Margaret that they could have a Christmas tree this year, which they have placed in the north end of the room where we used to have it, and Margaret has placed around it the many little gifts they are giving one to another.

It makes me remember you quite keenly and with a great deal of affection. I am sending a little gift herewith in the form of a check with which I hope you can buy something for your home.

With love and best wishes, I remain

Sincerely yours,

W. C. Simons
