

April 13 1850 It is now Saturday Just at the close of the evening and the bright and glorious sun will soon will soon be hidden from our view this morning I arose and the sun was hidden from our sight till about eight o'clock then it came forth in all the splendor that heart could wish the remainder of the day has been quite pleasant Mrs Thurston has been to letters and returned which makes us quite happy I love to see our happiness I hope hereafter I shall not neglect to write in my general book My friend and I Mary have formed several resolutions one is that we will endeavor to 9

5
read a chapter in the bible every night for my part I think it a very good resolution I have not seen my Mother for several days and I want to see her very much I think I shall go and see her before long there is nothing like good hearted Parents how sweet to hear a parents voice and it seems quite good to steal a warm kiss once and a while how wrong very wrong it is to disobey our parents, and we always ought to be kind to our brothers and sisters for we will not have them always My dear Father called on me last evening and I guess I kissed once or twice and he brought very good news he said they were all well and enjoying good health
