Dear Frazier:

The carbon copy of your letter to Clint Kanaga indicates that you have been hit pretty hard, and I certainly hope that things will be better for you for years to come.

I think you know that Mrs. Simons passed away on October 30, after making a very brave fight for about two and a half years.

My grandchildren, ten of them, range in age from a little less than four years to 27 years, and the oldest three are married. They were Blanche's children, and all three have been married in the past six months.

I returned last evening from attending the wedding of Marilyn Maloney at Tulsa. It was a very beautiful and interesting event. The wedding occurred in the Methodist church and the reception was at Southern Hills Country-Club with, perhaps, 200 present. All my grandchildren were present, except the three youngest, and I might be excused in saying that they are a mighty fine looking group of young men and women.

Referring to your personal letter, the name in our item should have been Peg Vaughn, whose real name was Miles W. Vaughn. He died recently in an accident. He was a mighty fine man and had risen from the ranks to a high position in the United Press. He was located for many years in Japan.

It might be worth while for you to look in Who's Who and see any Vaughn names and then write to several of them, giving your mother's name, where she was born and, if possible, the name of her parents. Leads of this kind are worth while.

Dolph returned recently from a trip around the world by
