

SYRACUSE HERALD-JOURNAL

FOUNDED BY ARTHUR JENKINS
JAN. 15, 1877

PUBLISHED BY THE HERALD COMPANY
Herald Place, Syracuse, N. Y.

MARY E. JENKINS, President

E. A. O'HARA, Publisher

Dwight S. Perrin, Executive Editor

Clarence H. Rinne, Business Manager

Chauncey S. Hurley, Advertising Director

James M. Armstrong, Circulation Manager

EDITORIAL—Robert D. Chryst, Managing Editor; C. Fred Betts, Chief Editorial Writer; Kenneth F. Sparrow, City Editor; Lawrence J. Skiddy, Sports Editor.

ADVERTISING—John J. Haggerty, Classified Manager; William J. Kuhn, Retail Manager; Robert O. Smith, National Manager

SUBSCRIPTION BY MAIL

REMITTANCE—ACCORDING TO POSTAL
REGULATIONS—MUST BE PAID IN ADVANCE

	1 Yr.	6 Mo.	3 Mo.	1 Mo.
Daily.....	$15.00	$7.50	$3.75	$1.25
Sunday.....	7.50	4.00	2.00	.75
Daily and Sunday.....	22.50	11.50	5.75	2.00

MEMBER OF THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Associated Press is entitled exclusively to the use for republication of all the local news printed in this newspaper as well as all AP news dispatches.

Entered as second-class matter Oct. 19, 1939, at the Postoffice at Syracuse, N. Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Telephone 2-0211

"Ignoring party politics and pursuing an independent course, we shall not hesitate to discuss public questions and to support such men and measures as seem best calculated to advance the best interests of the people."

ARTHUR JENKINS,
In first issue of The Herald.

TUESDAY, MARCH 1, 1949

Success of Freedom Train In Syracuse

The many thousands of Syracusans who have visited the Freedom Train and studied the historic documents and exhibits that are being displayed, have been amply rewarded.

It is impossible to view this priceless accumulation of the years without taking a new pride in the deeds, achievements and sacrifices of those who participated in the founding and development of the Empire State, and vowing that the liberties and freedoms won in the past shall not be lost in future.

The Freedom Train will be here through Friday. Attendance has far exceeded expectations—nevertheless, we urge every boy and girl, every man and woman, who hasn't visited the train so far, to do so without delay. Members of the present generation may never see this Freedom Train again and no one can afford to miss it.

Our community owes a great deal to those who have labored so successfully to make the Freedom Train visit an outstanding success. Special approbation should go to General Chairman Harold E. Roderick, Co-Chairmen H. R. Ekins and Paul Steinberg, and Lt. Col. Frank B. Corry, train commander.

Mrs. Harold L. Butler

Word of the passing of Mrs. Harold L. Butler brings a sense of personal loss to many friends of a family for years identified with the cultural life of Syracuse and to friends of the University. During the extended period when her husband, Dr. Butler served as dean of the College of Fine Arts, Mrs. Butler was a staunch and helpful friend of countless students enrolled in the various courses. Her interest in young people, her flair for bringing congenial people together, and her capacity for cementing friendships, made her an outstanding leader among women. Hers was a keen perception of talent, and this, with her own gifts as a speaker and teacher of reading, made her the center of a circle which widened with the years. As first patroness of Sigma Alpha Iota, she brought the kindly influence of an older woman to the young members, both in the active and alumnae chapters in the University. Such fine influence long will be remembered by both students and alumni.

Art and the Soviet

"It's clever but is it art?" is the stock query. But in the present now the query is, "Is it Communistic?"

So many a