Tuscaloosa, Alabama

Dear Donald:

I have received an invitation to your coming wedding and wish to have a small part in buying you something that you would like to have for your home. I think it is customary to make out such checks to the bride, so I have done so in this instance, but I am mailing it to you because she would not know who I am.

I wish you and your wife a very happy and prosperous life and in the years to come, among your happiest memories will be actions of loving kindness shown to your wife.

Please give my best regards to your mother.

Sincerely yours,

W. C. Simons
