

It's already - and find it most interesting as well as quite helpful in tracing our family lines. It will increase <sup>in</sup> its value as time goes along.

It must have required a great amount of work and I know all of the relatives appreciate you doing it for us.

Bob and I are in Tulsa now - he's here for business - and I'm on a pleasure trip. We will spend the day + night with the Riggs after Mom and Dad leave. Then we will leave tomorrow for Okla City.

It might interest you to know that this pen I'm writing with is one I bought with your birthday check last year. I lost it about in August and Bob found it in the dust panel in our bedroom night table, while I was on the gulf coast trip with Mom. It is like having a new one since it had been misplaced so long.
