Minneapolis, Kansas

Dear Janet,

I am enclosing a copy of a letter I have just written to Blanche. It seems that it is through a slight injury or from some unknown reason Pat had a sore eye and the doctor thought it would be unwise for them to make the drive up here until a cure had been effected. In this I agree that the doctor was right. Under the circumstances, I presume you may want to delay your visit to me until Blanche can come.

There is nothing new to report. It seems that we have wind and rain for a part of most every day or night, and it has been very hard on blossoming flowers, although plentiful moisture on the whole has been good for growing plants.

I shall keep you in touch with the situation and hope to have you here while Blanche is with me. I have not seen Mike lately but occasionally hear his voice over the phone. Students are mighty busy right now with finals.

If you think she would be interested, you might send this letter on to Mary Beth after you have read it.

Lots of love,
