Dear Grayce,

I have your good letter of March 23 before me. The girls know that they are welcome. I have spoken to both Dorothea and Janet and I am sure one of them will be ready to go up and open the cabin. We always hire one or more of the neighboring women to come in and do the cleaning and things like that. I can't look forward with the pleasure that I formerly did to these visits to the north woods, as Gertrude and I were always together there. I have arranged with Harry Johnson to have our cabin resingled because some leaks had developed.

I think of you very often and hope that both you and Don will take good care of yourself. I am glad that you keep in touch with Lawrence a bit in listening to the games over the radio. Our basketball team has certainly covered itself with glory this year.

I have always liked Warren Freeman and have never had the opportunity of being with him as much as I should like. I am so glad that he has recovered his health. I presume that you have some pretty cold weather at this time of year, and it isn't always possible to get away from it.

Please give my regards to the Purintons and the Framptons.

A few flowers are now in bloom outdoors in our yard.

I am handicapped a little bit in making plans for the summer because Elinor is expectant sometime in May and undoubtedly would not be able to go north this year. However, with Janet, Dorothea, and Blanche, I feel sure I shall have some good company.
